OFFICIAL DISPATCH FROM GEN. BUTLER.

Fortress Monroe, Tuesday, March 8.

Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War:

The flag-of truce boat is in, bringing over forty-eight officers and over six hundred privates, delivered for exchange.

The Richmond papers give an account of Col. Dahlgren's death and Maj. Cook's capture.

The papers of to-day say: "On the 6th of March, Gen. Sherman was at Canton, on the Mississippi Central Railroad. That he has taken a large number of negroes and leaves the country impoverished."

The papers also state that the Confederates have ordered all of Gen. Kilpatrick's officers whom they captured to be placed in irons.

BENJ. F. BUTLER, Maj.-Gen. Com'dg.

OUR RICHMOND FILES.

We have received full files of Richmond papers, from March 1 to March 8 inclusive, which furnish us with the rebel version of and comments on the recent daring raid of Union troops on Richmond.

THE GREAT RAID,

FURTHER INTERESTING PARTICULARS.

From the Richmond Dispatch, March 4.

In concluding our report yesterday, we stated that the raiders had succeeded in effecting their escape by crossing the Pamunkey at Piping Tree. Subsequent information has satisfied us that this statement was erroneous, and that only a small portion of the enemy's forces crossed the Pamunkey in their retreat. The main body, after passing Old Church, in Hanover County, moved down into New-Kent, on their way, doubtless, to Williamsburgh.

Yesterday afternoon Col. Bradley T. Johnson, with about forty of his Marylanders, assisted by a detachment of the Ninth Virginia Cavalry, which had joined him, came up with their rear guard, near Tunstall's Station, when a skirmish ensued, resulting in the capture of seventy of the raiders. This is probably the last heavy pull that will be made upon them, as it is understood that the remainder of the party had pushed on beyond New-Kent Court-house.

Thus ends the great raid which was designed for the destruction of Gen. Lee's communications and the liberation of the Yankee prisoners in Richmond. The injury to the communications with the Army of Northern Virginia can be repaired in three days, and, instead of releasing the prisoners already in our hands, they have added not less than two hundred and fifty to their numbers.

It is somewhat difficult to ascertain the exact loss of the raiders in killed and wounded. It is thought that in the fights on Mick's and Green's farms they had seventeen killed, and it is known that they had not less than twenty wounded. In Hampton's night attack upon them, near Atlee's, he killed four or five and wounded as many more. In the several engagements which occurred they must have lost, at a low estimate, twenty-five in killed and seventy wounded.

Their loss in prisoners will reach 250. Up to 7 o'clock yesterday evening 170 had been booked at the Libby, and these did not include the 70 captured by Col. Johnston in the neighborhood of Tunstall's.

What their net loss in horses will amount to cannot, of course, be estimated, as the number they stole in their line of march will go far to make up the number captured from them. They did not lose less than 500 in killed and captured. Beside the horses they lost a Napoleon gun, many saddles, carbines, sabres, pistols, blankets, &c. Altogether the expedition was rather an expensive one to Kilpatrick's Government, taking into consideration the results accomplished.

We were in error as to the name of the officer who commanded this battalion in the recent fight with the enemy on Green's farm. Capt. Jno. McAnerney, and not McIlthaney, is his name. He came to Virginia in the early part of the war with the Third Alabama Regiment, and was wounded in the battles around Richmond. His wound disabling him, he was appointed a clerk in the Post-Office Department. On the day of the raid he assumed command of the battalion as senior Captain, Major Henly being sick.

In addition to the names already published by us we have heard of the following wounded in the late fights: Of Henly's Battalion—Privates D. T. Carter, S. McLain, R. B. Green and Gray Deswell. Of the Armory Battalion—Lieut. Truehart, slightly in shoulder; private Jones, mortally; private Rees, badly in the neck. Among the local troops we understand our total loss to be: Killed, 3; mortally wounded, 2; wounded, 12; missing, 5.

The injury sustained by this road from the raiders is slight, and only such as to prevent the running of the trains for a few days. In the neighborhood of the Cickahominy they destroyed the trestle-work over the Brook, and some fifteen feet of what is known as the dry trestling on the other side of the Chickahominy. At Beaver Dam they tore up some hundred yards or more of track, and burnt one or two unimportant railroad buildings. This is about the extent of the damage inflicted upon the road.

Some uneasiness has been expressed with reference to our artillery at Frederick's Hall, and apprehensions entertained that it sustained some damage from the raiders on Monday. The fact that several of the artillery officers were captured by them excited these apprehensions. We are glad to state, however, that not a single place was injured, as the enemy were not at Frederick's Hall at all. They struck the railroad some three miles below that point.

The remains of Capt. Albert Ellery, who fell in one of the fights on Tuesday night, were interred in Hollywood Cemetery. They were followed to their last resting place by the battalion of which he was a member, and Smith's Battalion Band. Among the pall-bearers we noticed Marshal Kane and Dr. Chas. Magill.

COL. DAHLGREN'S OPERATIONS—HOW HE WAS KILLED.

From the Richmond Dispatch, March 5.

The most important blow which has yet been struck the daring raiders who attempted to enter this city on Tuesday last, was wielded by Lieut. Pollard, of the Ninth Virginia Cavalry, on Wednesday night, about 11 o'clock, in the neighborhood of Walkerton, in King and Queen County.

Lieut. P., with the greater portion of his own company, had been watching the movements of the enemy all day on Wednesday, in King William, and ascertained that night that Dahlgren, with about two hundred of his deluded followers, had crossed the Mattaponi at Aylett's. With his own men he crossed over and followed the retreating raiders. On reaching the forks of the road, a few miles above Walkerton, Lieut. P. learned that the enemy had taken the river road, leading to that place. Leaving a few men to follow on after them, he quitted the main road with the larger portion of the force at his disposal, and by a circuitous route and forced march he succeeded in throwing himself in front of the enemy and awaited his approach. In the meantime he had been joined by the home guards of King and Queen and a few men of Robin's Battalion. A little before 11 o'clock at night the enemy approached on the road in which they were posted. A fire was at once opened upon them; but their leader, Col. Dahlgren, relying perhaps upon his numbers, or stung by chagrin at his failure to capture Richmond, determined to force his way through, and at once forming his men, ordered a charge, which he led himself. It proved, however, a fatal charge to him; for in the onset he was pierced with a ball and fell dead. After his fall the command could not be rallied, but were soon thrown into confusion inextricable. Our boys, noticing this, availed themselves of the opportunity it afforded, and used it to the best advantage. Dashing in among the discomfitted foe, they succeeded in capturing ninety prisoners, thirty-five negroes, and one hundred and fifty horses. The body of Dahlgren also fell into their hands, and on his person was found the papers which we publish below, disclosing the diabolical schemes which the party had in view, in making the late, and, to them, disastrous raid.

ADDITIONAL PARTICULARS OF THE CAPTURE OF DAHLGREN'S PARTY.

From the Richmond Whig, March 8.

From information derived from a reliable source, it appears that the credit of the capture of the "Dahlgren party" is mainly due to Capt. Wm. M. Magruder, and a squadron of Robin's battalion under his command, who have for some time past been posted in King and Queen county, as a corps of observation. Learning that the enemy was moving down the North bank of the Mataponi, by the river road, with the evident intention of reaching Gloucester Point, Capt. Magruder determined to anticipate him, and with this view left his camp with about one hundred of his command, Lieut. Pollard and seventeen men of the Ninth Virginia Cavalry—making for a point on the river between Mantua Ferry and King and Queen Court-House, which he succeeded in reaching in advance of the enemy.

Posting his command at an eligible point along the road in ambush, he had not long to wait before the enemy made his appearance, headed by Dahlgren himself, slowly and cautiously approaching as if apprehensive of their impending fate. As the head of the column neared the point of concealment, Dahlgren's attention was attracted by a slight rustling in the bushes, occasioned doubtless by the movement of some of our party. Drawing his pistol he called out, "Surrender, you d—d rebel, or I'll shoot you." In an instant private McCloy sprang into the road, and, levelling his piece, shot the miscreant dead. A general volley was then poured into the enemy's ranks, which had the effect of emptying their saddles and killing as many horses and throwing the rest into inextricable confusion. Then ensued a scene of the wildest panic, which was heightened by the intense darkness of the night. Each man looking to his own personal safety all sought refuge in flight, and spurring their jaded horses over the bodies of their wounded and over each other, the whole body broke pell-mell over a ditch and watling fence, which the most adventurous fox-hunter would hardly have essayed in the heat of the chase, into a small field. Capt. M. immediately disposed his force around the field so as to prevent all egress, and quietly awaited the approach of daylight, when the whole party surrendered without resistance.

Much praise is due to Capt. Magruder for his coolness and judgment in this affair. If he had ordered a charge upon the discomfitted enemy in the road, the probability is that some of our own men would have fallen by the hands of their comrades in an indiscriminate fight in the dark, while the opportunities of escape by the enemy would have been increased. As it was, the prudent course adopted secured most effectually the result desired without a single casualty on our side. This account strips the valorous Dahlgren's name of the little éclat which might have attached to it if he had fallen, as was at first stated, while boldly leading a charge in an effort to cut his way through our lines. He was shot down, as he deserved to be, like a "thief in the night," with his stolen plunder around him, while seeking, under cover of darkness, to elude the punishment he so richly merited.

THE FIGHT IN KING AND QUEEN.

From the Richmond Whig, March 7.

The fight in King and Queen is said to have taken place at Stevensville. Our cavalry were commanded by Lieut. Spotswood Pollard, and were assisted by the Home Guard, under the command of Capt. Richard Hugh Bagby, one of the ablest and most zealous clergymen of the Baptist Church. We took over one hundred prisoners and recaptured thirty-five negroes. Dahlgren was killed, but what other casualties occurred to the enemy or to our own forces we have not learned.

Capt. Dement and Lieut. ——, who were captured at Frederick Hall, were with Dahlgren when he was killed. They have arrived in this city. Six other officers were captured at Frederick Hall, but made their escape the second night afterward. To prevent the escape of Capt. Dement and Lieut. ——, Dahlgren kept them in front, not only on the march, but during the engagements at Green's farm and at Stevensville. In other respects Dahlgren acted very courteously.

Two hundred cavalry were engaged in the fight on the Westham road, three hundred were detached to keep open communication with the rear. These ought to have been captured, but succeeded, doubtless, in joining Kilpatrick. It was Dahlgren's intention to enter Richmond, and he would have done so but for the resistance of the Departmental Battalion. Their first volley killed eleven and wounded twenty of the enemy. Capt. Dement states that Dahlgren's men were completely fagged out, having lost six nights' sleep, and were in no condition to fight. Although Capt. Dement was with Dahlgren four days and nights, he saw and heard nothing of the infernal designs against Richmond until the papers, which have been published, were found on his dead body. These facts we learn not from Capt. Dement himself, but from a gentleman who conversed with him.

THE DEPARTURE OF THE RAIDERS.

From the Richmond Dispatch, March 7.

The fate of Kilpatrick's command was a matter of great anxiety to the Yankees on the Peninsula. On Wednesday last Col. Spears' Eleventh Pennsylvania Cavalry came up to Tunstall's Station three times to meet Kilpatrick, and finding that he had not arrived went back. The last time they came up they met him, and falling in with him protected his rear on his way down the Peninsula. Col. Bradley Johnson, with his gallant body of men, who had been hammering at Kilpatrick's column, then found Dahlgren in his own rear with a largely superior force, and turned upon him. Had he had a larger force he would have captured them, as they were much dispirited. When they found Johnson in their front they seemed to be consulting about giving up. One of them was heard by our men to say, "We had better go to h—l than to go back to Richmond." This opinion seemed to prevail, and they determined to force their way through. Of course, Col. Johnson, with his handful of men, could not stop them, but he cut into their rear and brought off twenty-one of them as they got by. With the exception of Lieut. Pollard's attack, this was the last time they were "operated" upon.

COL. DAHLGREN'S BODY.

From the Richmond Whig, March 8.

The body of Col. Ulric Dahlgren, killed in the swamps of King and Queen, by the Ninth Virginia Cavalry, was brought to the city Sunday night, and laid at the York River depot during the greater part of the day yesterday, where large numbers of persons went to see it. It was in a pine box, clothed in Confederate shirt and pants, and shrouded in a Confederate blanket. The wooden leg had been removed by one of the soldiers. It was also noticeable that the little finger of the left hand had been cut off. Dahlgren was a small man, thin, pale, and with red hair and a goatee of the same color. His face wore an expression of agony. About 2 o'clock P. M. the corpse was removed from the depot and buried—no one knows, or is to know, where.

[Col. Dahlgren used no wooden leg. The stump had not yet become sufficiently hardened to admit it; when he rode his limb was strapped to the saddle. Col. D. had light, flaxen hair—not red. Otherwise the above description is correct.—Ed. Times.]

PRISONERS CAPTURED.

From the Richmond Whig, March 3.

Up to dusk last evening, three commissioned officers and 161 privates had been registered and reported at the Libby Prison. The following are the officers: Lieut.-Col. A. C. Litchfield, of the Seventh Michigan; Capt. John A. Clark, Seventh Michigan; Assistant Surgeon S. T. Kingston, Second New-York Cavalry. The first was captured at Meadow Bridge, the second at Mechanicsville, and the third on the Fredericksburgh road. Of the privates, 15 were captured in Goochland, 7 at Terry's Mill, 2 on the Short Pump road, 47 at Ashland, 30 at South-anna, 1 on the Fredericksburgh road, 7 at Meadow Bridge, 2 at Green's farm, 2 at Austin's farm, 6 at Mechanicsville, 15 on Brooke Turnpike, 6 on the River road, 1 at Spring farm, 1 at Brooke Church, 1 in Hanover, 2 in Henrico County, 2 on the Plank-road; besides 15 not registered. About 90 of them were captured by Gen. Hampton. Squads were coming in all day yesterday, and with the captures not reported, the whole number will approximate 200.

PAPERS FOUND ON COL. DAHLGREN'S BODY.

From the Richmond Sentinel, March 5.

Lieut. Pollard, commanding Company H, of the Ninth Virginia Regiment, aided by some home guards and a few men from Lieut.-Col. Robbins' command, succeeded in penning Col. Dahlgren, on Wednesday night, about 11 o'clock. Dahlgren made a determined effort to force his way out, and was killed leading the charge.

Thursday morning—the remaining officers having escaped—the party surrendered, 90 Yankees and 35 negroes.

Several papers were found in the pockets of Dahlgren, copies of which are subjoined:

ADDRESS TO THE OFFICERS AND MEN.

The following address to the officers and men of the command was written on a sheet of paper having, in printed letters, on the upper corner, "Headquarters Third Division, Cavalry Corps, 1864:"

Officers and Men: You have been selected from brigades and regiments as a picked command to attempt a desperate undertaking—an undertaking which, if successful, will write your names on the hearts of your countrymen in letters that can never be erased, and which will cause the prayers of our fellow soldiers now confined in loathsome prisons to follow you and yours wherever you may go. We hope to release the prisoners from Belle Isle, first, and, having seen them fairly started, we will cross the James River into Richmond, destroy the bridges after us, and, exhorting the released prisoners to destroy and burn the hateful city, will not allow the rebel leader Davis and his traitorous crew to escape. The prisoners must render great assistance, as you cannot leave your ranks too far or become too much scattered, or you will be lost. Do not allow any personal gain to lead you off, which would only bring you to an ignominious death at the hands of citizens. Keep well together and obey orders strictly, and all will be well; but on no account scatter too far, for in union there is strength. With strict obedience to orders and fearlessness in their execution, you will be sure to succeed. We will join the main force on the other side of the city, or perhaps meet them inside. Many of you may fall; but if there is any man here not willing to sacrifice his life in such a great and glorious undertaking, or who does not feel capable of meeting the enemy in such a desperate fight as will follow, let him step out, and he may go hence to the arms of his sweetheart, and read of the braves who swept through the city of Richmond. We want no man who cannot feel sure of success in such a holy cause. We will have a desperate fight; but stand up to it when it does come, and all will be well. Ask the blessing of the Almighty, and do not fear the enemy.

U. DAHLGREN, Colonel Commanding.

The following special orders were written on a similar sheet of paper and on detached slips, the whole disclosing the diabolical plans of the leaders of the expedition:

"Guides and pioneers, with oakum, turpentine and torpedoes; signal officer, quartermasters, commissaries, scouts and pickets, and men in rebel uniforms—these will remain on the north bank and move down with the force on the south bank, not get ahead of them, and if the communication can be kept up without giving an alarm, it must be done; but everything depends upon a surprise, and no one must be allowed to pass ahead of the column. Information must be gathered in regard to the crossings of the river, so that, should we be repulsed on the south side, we will know where to recross at the nearest point.

All mills must be burned and the canal destroyed, and also everything which can be used by the rebels must be destroyed, including the boats on the river. Should a ferry boat be seized which can be worked, have it moved down. Keep the force on the south side posted of any important movement of the enemy, and in case of danger some of the scouts must swim the river and bring us information. As we approach the city the party must take great care that they do not get ahead of the other party on the south side, and must conceal themselves and watch our movements. We will try and secure the bridge to the city, one mile below Belle Isle, and release the prisoners at the same time. If we don't succeed they must then dash down, and we will try to carry the bridge by storm. When necessary the men must be filed through the woods and along the river bank. The bridge once secured and the prisoners loose and over the river the bridge will be burned and the city destroyed.

The men must be kept together and well in hand, and, once in the city, it must be destroyed and Jeff. Davis and his Cabinet killed. Pioneers will go along, with combustible material. The officer must use his discretion about the time of assisting us. Horses and cattle which we do not need immediately must be shot rather than left.

Everything on the canal and elsewhere of service to the rebels must be destroyed.

As General Custer may follow me, be careful not to give a false alarm. The signal officer must be prepared to communicate at night by rockets, and other things pertaining to his department. The Quartermasters and Commissaries must be on the lookout for their departments, and see that there are no delays on their account. The Engineer officer will follow, and survey the road as we pass over, &c. The pioneers must be prepared to construct a bridge or destroy one. They must have plenty of oakum and turpentine for burning, which will be soaked and rolled into balls, and be given to the men when we get into the city. Torpedoes will only be used by the pioneers for burning the main bridges, &c. They must be prepared to destroy the railroads.

Men will branch off to the right with a few pioneers, and destroy the bridges and railroads south of Richmond, and then join us at the city. They must be well prepared with torpedoes, &c.

The line of Falling Creek is probably the best to march along, or as they approach the city, Good's Creek, so that no reinforcements come up on any cars.

No one must be allowed to pass ahead, for fear of communicating news.

Rejoin the command with all haste, and if cut off cross the river above Richmond and rejoin us. Men will stop at Bellona Arsenal and totally destroy it, and everything else but hospitals; then follow on and rejoin the command at Richmond with all haste, and, if cut off, cross the river and rejoin us. As Gen. Custer may follow me, be careful and not give a false alarm."

The following is an exact copy of a paper, written in lead pencil, which appears to have been a private memorandum of the programme that Dahlgren had made to enable him to keep his work clearly in mind:

"Saturday, leave camp at dark—six P. M.; cross Ely's Ford at ten P. M.; twenty miles, cross North Anna at 4 A. M. Sunday, feed and water one hour; three miles, Frederick's Hall Station, six A. M.; destroy artillery eight A. M., twenty miles; near James River, two P. M. Sunday, feed and water one hour and a half.

Thirty miles to Richmond. March towards Kilpatrick for one hour, and then, as soon as dark, cross the river, reaching Richmond early in the morning of Monday. One squadron remains on north side, one squadron to cut the railroad bridge at Falling Creek, and join at Richmond—eighty-three miles—Gen. Kilpatrick cross at 1 A. M. Sunday—ten miles—pass river 5 A. M.—resistance; Chilesburg, fourteen miles, 8 A. M. Resistance at North Anna, three miles—railroad bridge at South Anna, twenty-six miles, 2 P. M.; destroy bridges, pass South Anna, and feed until after dark, then signal each other. After dark move down to Richmond and be in front of the city at daybreak. Return.

Be over the Pamunkey at daybreak, feed and water, and then cross the Rappahannock at night—Tuesday night—when they must be on the lookout. Spies should be sent on Friday morning and be ready to cut—a guide furnished."

The following paper was inclosed in an envelope directed to Col. U. Dahlgren, &c., at Gen. Kilpatrick's headquarters, and marked "confidential." The letter is not dated.

Col. Dahlgren &c.—Dear Colonel: At the last moment I have found the men you want, who is well acquainted with the James River from Richmond. I send him to you mounted on my own private horse. You will have to furnish him a horse. Question him five minutes and you will find him the man you want.

Respectfully and truly yours,

JOHN C. BABCOCK.

On the margin of the letter is written:

"He crossed the Rapidan last night and has late information."

THE RICHMOND PRESS ON THE RAID.

THE CAPTURED BANDITS.

From the Richmond Whig, March 7.

Presuming the documents found on the body of Dahlgren to be authentic, the whole question of the recent attempt to invade Richmond, burn and sack it, (with all the other horrible concomitants of such a scene,) can be stated and disposed of in a few words. It requires no fine disquisition to see our way clear as to what should be done with those of the banditti who have fallen into our hands. But it does require nerve to execute the palpable convictions of our judgment—a judgment which will be promptly sustained by the civilized world, including China, the most truculent of nations; nations not uncivilized.

Are these men warriors? Are they soldiers, taken in the performance of duties recognized as legitimate by the loosest construction of the code of civilized warfare? or are they assassins, barbarians, thugs, who have forfeited (and expect to lose) their lives? Are they not barbarians redolent of more hellish purposes than were ever the Goth, the Hun or the Saracen? The consentaneous voice of all Christendom will shudderingly proclaim them monsters, whom no sentimental idea of humanity, no timorous views of expediency, no trembling terror of consequences, should have shielded from the quickest and the sternest death.

What more have we to dread from Yankee malice or brutality than we now know awaits us, if success attend them? What have we to hope from their clemency? Will justice meted out to these poor creatures stimulate either the brutality of the Yankees on the one hand, or increase their capacity and means for diabolism on the other? Both are now in fullest exercise.

If these men go unpunished, according to the exceeding magnitude of their crimes, do we not invite the Yankees to a similar, and, if possible, still more shocking efforts? If we would know what we ought to do with them, let us ask what would ere now have been their fate, if, during a war, such a body of men, with such purposes and such acts, had made an attempt on and were taken in London or Paris? The English blow fierce and brutal Sepoys, who disregard and exceed the just limits of war, from the mouths of cannon; the French fusilade them. If we are less powerful, have we less pride and self-respect than either of these nations? These men have put the caput lupinum on themselves. They are not victims; they are volunteers for remorseless death. They have rushed upon fate, and struggled in voluntary audacity with the grim monster. Let them die, not by court-martial, not as prisoner but as hostes humani generis, by general order from the President, Commander-in-Chief.

Will the Cabinet and President have the nerve to do what lies palpably before them? This is the question in all mouths. What concerns this people most now is not whether its public officers will come out of this war with brilliant European reputations—not whether, after leading the people out of Egypt, they shall have the reputation that Moses preserved of being very meek—but they wish protection to themselves, their wives and children, and their honor.

HOW THE PRISONERS ARE TREATED.

From the Richmond Whig, March 8.

Four Yankee negro soldiers, captured in James City County, were brought to this city yesterday, and delivered at the Libby, where they were distributed, as far as they would go, into the solitary cells of the Yankee officers captured during the recent raid. This is a taste of negro equality, we fancy, the said Yankee officers will not fancy overmuch. The negroes represent themselves as James W. Corn, Company C, Fifth United States Volunteers; P. F. Lewis, Company I, Fifth United States Volunteers; R. P. Armistead, Company H, Sixth United States Volunteers; Jno. Thomas, ditto.

THE EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS.

ARRIVAL OF CONFEDERATE PRISONERS FROM LOOKOUT POINT.

From the Richmond Dispatch, March 7.

It is a little difficult to understand the exact position of the issues which have interrupted the exchange of prisoners between our own and the Yankee Government. The fact that 800 of our prisoners at Point Lookout were sent up by Butler to City Point on the last flag-of-truce boat, led to the belief that the exchange, under the provisions of the cartel, had been renewed, and that Butler had been recognized by our Government as Commissioner of Exchange. This is not the case, however. The men sent to us are received as paroled prisoners, under the cartel as it was before the hitch which interrupted the regular exchange. In sending an equivalent, man for man will not be returned, but a number in ratio with the excess of prisoners which they claim to have in their possession. They claim to have 25 per cent. more of our prisoners than we have of theirs, and the understanding is that they are to send twenty-five per cent. excess to us in the delivery of prisoners. The letter of Judge Ould, refusing to recognize Butler has not been withdrawn, nor have the difficulties with reference to the exchange of negro troops been removed.

From the Richmond Whig, March 8.

The notice in yesterday's issue of the resumption of the exchange of prisoners expressed all the information in regard to the question that we have been able to obtain, and was as definite as it is in the power of the Exchange Bureau at present to communicate. It is the intention of Commissioner Ould to respond to similar proffers of exchange on the part of the enemy hereafter, according to the relative number of prisoners, on either side. No new agreement or arrangement has been entered into. The Yankees claim that they have from thirty to thirty-five thousand of our men, and that we have eighteen or twenty thousand of theirs. It will be in this ratio that exchanges similar to the late one will be made in future. The number of prisoners expected up the latter part of this week is about one thousand.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE N. Y. TIMES.

Washington, Wednesday, March 9.

DIGNITARIES IN COUNCIL—GEN. GRANT.

A protracted interview between Lieut.-Gen. Grant, the Secretary of War and Gen. Halleck, took place to-day. The military condition of the country was discussed, and the general plan of a harmonious and decisive campaign devised. The necessity of accomplishing more through the Army of the Potomac than has hitherto been accomplished was freely admitted and the subject of its reorganization considered. Gen. Grant leaves to-morrow to review the Army of the Potomac, and to ascertain, by personal inspection, what the hindrances to its efficiency are. He announces his intention to avoid, if possible, a residence in Washington, and to stay somewhere in the field of active duty. Gen. Halleck's position will not be really changed, but he will continue as Chief of Staff to the President, through whom all his orders, as Commander-in-Chief of the army, will be transmitted to the Lieutenant-General. Such a position will place him on a grade inferior to the Commander in the field. Gen. Grant stated to-day to the President and Cabinet that the report that Sherman had been defeated was untrue. He said the expedition had accomplished all that was expected of it, and that it was an entire success.

THE SURPLUS GOLD TO BE PUT IN THE MARKET.

The Senate Finance Committee to-day unanimously authorized Senator Sherman to report back the House bill allowing the Secretary of the Treasury to anticipate the payment on the coupons by amending so as to allow the Secretary to sell the surplus gold in the Treasury without the five days' notice. The rapid rise in gold to-day has induced the Senate Committee to take this action, and it will probably pass without much opposition.

POWER OF DISMISSING OFFICERS TAKEN FROM THE PRESIDENT.

An important bill has been proposed by the House Military Committee, taking from the President the authority of dismissing officers from the army and navy. It provides that they shall be arraigned before courts-martial, where a fair hearing may be had. The committee think that this change should be made, owing to the frequent injustice done many gallant officers in mere ex parte statements, and which are frequently reversed when the facts are known.

IMPORTANT DISPATCHES FROM FRANCE.

Minister Dayton's son arrived here this evening. He brings important dispatches to the Government from his father.

GEN. WARREN'S TESTIMONY REGARDING THE BATTLE OF GETTYSBURGH.

Gen. Warren was examined to-day before the Committee on the Conduct of the War, in relation to the Battle of Gettysburgh. His testimony differed materially from that of some other officers who have been before the committee. He corroborated Meade's testimony in regard to the order to retreat, &c.

REORGANIZATION OF THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

The Army of the Potomac is to be formed into three corps—two infantry and one cavalry. Gen. Grant's visit to the army will probably interfere somewhat with the proposed reorganization.

THE NATIONAL BANK BILL.

The Ways and Means Committee finished the National Bank Bill to-day, and will have it ready for action by the House to-morrow.

THE RARITAN BAY RAILROAD.

The House Military Committee, to-day, unanimously agreed to report the bill making the Raritan Bay Railroad a post route.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington, Wednesday, March 9.

PRESENTATION OF THE LIEUTENANT-GENERAL'S COMMISSION TO GEN. GRANT.

The President of the United States this afternoon formally presented to Major-Gen. Grant his commission as Lieutenant-General. The ceremony took place in the Cabinet Chamber in the presence of the entire Cabinet, Gen. Halleck, Representative Lovejoy, Gen. Rawlings and Col. Comstock, of Gen. Grant's Staff, the son of Gen. Grant and Mr. Nicolay, the Private Secretary of the President. Gen. Grant having entered the room, the President rose and addressed him thus:

Gen. Grant: The nation's appreciation of what you have done, and its reliance upon you for what remains to do in the existing great struggle, are now presented with this commission constituting you Lieutenant-General in the army of the United States. With this high honor devolves upon you also a corresponding responsibility. As the country herein trusts you, so under God it will sustain you. I scarcely need to add that, with what I here speak for the nation, goes my own hearty personal concurrence.

To which Gen. Grant replied as follows:

Mr. President: I accept this commission with gratitude for the high honor conferred. With the aid of the noble armies that have fought on so many fields for our common country, it will be my earnest endeavor not to disappoint your expectations. I feel the full weight of the responsibilities now devolving on me, and I know that if they are met, it will be due to those armies, and, above all, to the favor of that Providence which leads both nations and men.

The President then introduced the General to all the members of the Cabinet; after which the company was seated, and about half an hour was spent in social conversation.

THE OBJECT OF SHERMAN'S EXPEDITION.

It is understood in well-informed quarters that Gen. Sherman's expedition was not intended to operate against Mobile or Atlanta, as was so repeatedly asserted, but that it was for the express purpose of cutting off the rebel supplies and impoverishing the section of country in which he operated, a work which the rebel papers attest he successfully accomplished.

THE LATE REBEL RAID ON THE CHESAPEAKE.

The Star has the following: "The steamer Baltimore arrived here yesterday morning from Piankatank River, whither she went on Saturday to head off, if possible, the tug Titan, captured near Cherrystone Point.

The Titan, in charge of a Confederate raiding party, was discovered about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon slowly hugging the shore; but, on reaching the mouth of the Piankatank, she increased her speed, and traveled up the stream. One of the Federal gunboats, the Tulip, was immediately dispatched after her, but she escaped, as the Tulip, on account of the shallow water, was unable to follow her. The Titan was taken to a place called Freeport, where she was burned by the rebels on Monday morning, after her machinery was removed. The goods were removed at this place on Monday, and some of the captors were about to have an auction sale; but the gunboats making their appearance, the goods were hastily removed inland. The officers of the Baltimore learned in Piankatank that the raiders were led by Lieuts. Maxwell and Fitz-Hugh, formerly of our navy. For the same reason that the Tulip was unable to overhaul the Titan, the boats of the expedition failed to ascend as far as Freeport."

THE RECOGNITION RUMOR.

The report in the London Morning Post, that France was renewing negotiations with a view to a recognition of the rebels by Great Britain and France, and in case of the failure of a negotiation, then for France to act alone, are pronounced by the State Department utterly groundless.

A BRAVE OFFICER EXCHANGED.

Lieut. Israel Ludlow, of the artillery, who remained by his guns, almost alone, at Chickamauga until wounded and taken prisoner, has been exchanged, and arrived at Fortress Monroe.

TRANSFERS FROM THE ARMY TO THE NAVY.

The President has prescribed the necessary regulations for enlisting seamen from the army into the navy, and the Secretary of War has designated the entire number, not exceeding 12,000, which it is desirable to have at each of the naval stations fixed upon by him as follows: At Cairo, 1,000; Boston, 2,000; New-York, 5,000; Philadelphia, 3,000. Baltimore, 1,000. The following quotas are assigned: Department of the East, 3,000; Middle Department, 1,500; Department of Virginia and North Carolina, 1,500; Department of Washington, 2,500; Department of Susquehanna, 2,000; Department of the Monongahela, 500; Northern Department, 1,000. Commanding-Generals of Departments are required to communicate with the Navy Department, and cause the men selected for transfer to be sent to the designated stations in such numbers as may be fixed by the Secretary of the Navy. Each commanding-General of an army or department, which has been required to furnish a quota for transfer to the navy is required at once to designate one or more officers, as may be required, to examine the applications and determine from them according to the qualifications of the applicants, and the number to be furnished, and what men shall be transferred to the navy, care being taken that transfer enlistments shall be so apportioned among the companies of each command that no regiment shall be reduced below the minimum organization.

"The private advices from Paris, upon which we believe reliance can be placed, again allude to the negotiations now in progress preparatory to a recognition of the Confederate States of America by the French Government, although any official acknowledgment of this fact would, at this moment, be thought premature and undesirable."

OUR PARIS CORRESPONDENCE.

The Germans have fallen into a sad dilemma. Seventy millions of people trying to crush out a nation of a million and three-quarters, is an abuse of brute force that humiliates at last the proud military spirit of the Austrians. But the war is engaged, the little Danish nation still resists, and although the Germans feel that the further they go on the deeper they fall into embarrassment, still they must go on. A German Minister, M. de Pfordten, lately exclaimed, "Oh, if France could only interfere at the present moment in Germany we would raise her a statue!" But there is no danger of France interfering, for she fears that instead of raising her a statue for the service rendered, Germany would organize a coalition against her. France remains neutral, and as for the Conference the Great Powers are trying to organize, the Government papers here take pains to caution the public against hoping for any serious result. They speak, indeed, so positively on this head, that we are led to believe that this Government intends that there shall not be any result from the Conference. It seems, indeed, as if the policy of France were to put all Europe by the ears, in order as well to revenge herself for the rejection of her Congress, as to be able to obtain a good opportunity to go in with her big army and settle European affairs, and especially European frontiers, on a basis to suit herself.

The Archduke Maximilian has changed his programme, and we are to see him at Paris in the first week in March, instead of at the end of that month. He is also to sail from Trieste instead of from Cherbourg. These changes are due to the delay in the arrival of the Mexican delegation which is to bring him the vote of the Municipalities, for, being obliged to sail about the 1st of April for Vera Cruz, he could not wait any longer to pay his visits to Brussels, Paris and London. It is not expected that the Prince will appear in public during his stay at Paris, for he will require to spend much time with the Emperor in the arrangement of their mutual affairs in regard to Mexico, and besides, it is now the period of Lent, when the Catholic world do not indulge in worldly pleasures.

The Confederate ship Florida has made good her escape from the port of Brest, as was expected, but Capt. Winslow, with the Kearsage, is flying about from point to point between the French and English shores in order to fall in with the privateer, if possible, or at any rate to protect American commerce in these waters. The secession papers of Paris, which boasted so loudly of the fight which the Florida was going to offer the Federal gunboat, are mute on the subject of the Florida's escape.

The trial of the four conspirators against the Emperor's life, which commenced yesterday morning, and will finish this afternoon, reads, as far as concerns yesterday's proceedings, very much like a sham affair. The word is in everybody's mouth. Only two reporters have been admitted to furnish the public with a report of the trial, and these two reporters belong to the two law journals, and are under the control of the Police authorities. Mazzini has already been condemned for one attempt on the Emperor's life, and his implication in this affair does not render his situation either better or worse; so that the introduction of his name has the very opposite effect to that which was intended. These are the arguments one hears on every side; but, for myself, I do not believe the affair to be a comedy. I believe that the complot was not only not a comedy, but that it came near a terrible realization, and that behind this one there will come others, as long as the Emperor stands in the way of Italian unity. Napoleon is hated in Italy with all the hate of which the Italian heart is capable; but if the political hopes of Italy were realized, this hate would become negative, and the attempts on his life would cease. It would not be strange if these repeated attempts by

United States Circuit Court—March 9.

Before Judge Shipman.

The United States vs. James S. Cunningham. – In this case the defendant was indicted for willfully casting away the ship Senator. The trial was set down to take place yesterday, but was then put over till this morning, and the Court now ordered it off till April.

The United States vs. Solomon Kohnstaum.—The District-Attorney moved on this case for trial. The defendant was indicted last June for making fraudulent claims against the Government, and the case has been postponed several times since then. The counsel for the defendant now applied for a further postponement of the case, saying that they desired to have it heard before the full bench. The case was accordingly postponed till May, when Judge Nelson will be here, and can sit in the case.

FRAUDULENT CLAIM.

The United States vs. John Harrington.—In this case the accused was indicted for presenting a forged and fraudulent paper to the Government, and procuring money on it. He was arraigned, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to be imprisoned for one year.

A Married Woman may be Arrested in a Civil Action where she has a Separate Estate—The Person of Signorita Sulzer to be taken in Execution.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS—CHAMBERS.

Before Judge Daly.

Annie Wilson vs. Henrietta Sulzer.—The further hearing of this case upon the defendant's motion to set aside the execution against her person, on the ground that she is now a married woman having separate estate, came up yesterday morning. This, it will be remembered, is the somewhat famous opera slander suit, the particulars of which, as developed on the trial, have already appeared in the TIMES.

Mr. Bright, on behalf of the plaintiff, contended that formerly a married woman could not be discharged for any cause except collusion between plaintiff and her husband to keep her in custody. At length the practice arose of discharging her, in the discretion of the court, when she had no separate estate; but the cases showed that this discretion was exercised only where the judgment was against both husband and wife, and a decision of Chief Baron Pollock was cited to show that it could not be exercised when the judgment was against the wife alone. It was further argued that the reason for the discharge of a married woman, who had no separate estate vested in trustees, was her inability to acquire property to satisfy the debt. This disability is removed by our statutes, and the defendant is enabled to earn by her services $6,000 per annum, to which she alone is entitled. It was, however, immaterial whether she in fact earns anything; having the legal capacity to do business and acquire property she is responsible to the plaintiff. Furthermore, it was contended that the circumstances of the alleged cancelation of defendant's contract with Maretzek created the presumption that she had willfully attempted to deprive herself of the means of satisfying the debt. Defendant's counsel cited authorities to show that a married woman is absolutely entitled to discharge when taken on a ca sa. He also suggested that Miss Sulzer was singing for charitable objects as the explanation of her appearance since the cancelation of her contract, but it was proven to the satisfaction of the court that she appeared in opera several times during the week.

Judge DALY, in rendering his decision, questioned the distinction made by Baron Pollock, limiting the cases in which the Court might exercise its discretion. He, however, held that in view of defendant's means of acquiring property, in the present instance she should not be discharged.

Plaintiff may enter an order during defendant's motion, with $10 costs.

Osborn E. Bright, for plaintiff; Ben. Galbraith, for defendant.

Notarial Certificate of Protest not Evidence of Proper Presentation and Demand.

SUPREME COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Judge Barnard, of the Second District.

Wm. M. Gantry and Philip L. Freeman vs. Augustus S. Doane, Charles E. Townsend and Gerald Gray.—This suit was brought against the defendants as makers and indorsers of a promissory note for $2,100. Defendant Doane, the indorser, alone defended the action on the ground that the note was not presented, or properly protested. Plaintiff's counsel offered in evidence the notarial certificate. This was objected to by defendants. Plaintiff's counsel insisted that as there was no affidavit annexed to defendant's answer the notarial certificate was prima facie evidence of the facts therein contained.

The court ruled this certificate out. The notary was then placed upon the stand, who stated that the note was presented by his clerk in the regular course of business and payment demanded; that the clerk had since died, but that he had made a note of the facts, in a book kept for that purpose in the notary's office. Plaintiff's counsel then offered the entry in this book as evidence. The court ruled them out, on the ground that it was not proper evidence, and dismissed the complaint, with leave to plaintiff to apply for a new trial on the merits.

J. R. Hills for plaintiff; Close & Robertson for defendant.

Alleged Seduction—Order of Arrest Denied.

SUPERIOR COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Justice Moncrief.

Elizabeth Slocum vs. George Hartman.—This was an application for an order of arrest. The plaintiff alleged that the defendant had seduced her under promise of marriage, and afterward given her drugs to conceal the consequences. The defendant denied the charge, and produced affidavits showing a different state of facts. After argument of counsel the Court refused to grant an order of arrest.

Mr. Waite for plaintiff; Alexander H. Reavey for defendant.

The Express Case Over for the Term.

COMMON PLEAS—TRIAL TERM.

Before Judge Cardozo.

Clark vs. Brooks.—On motion of Mr. Cram, plaintiff's counsel, this case was sent over to the next term.

Will of Ex-Sheriff Willett Rejected.

SURROGATE'S COURT.

Before Surrogate Tucker.

The will of Ex-Sheriff Willett was now offered for probate and rejected because of informality of execution.

Decisions.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS.

Before Justice Barnard.

Gandall vs. Wilmott; Nagle vs. Fuller.—Motions granted.

Weltz vs. Ackley; Fuller vs. Pomeroy; White vs. Story; Julio vs. Ingalls; Hart vs. Oliver.—Motion denied.

WEDNESDAY, March 9—P. M.

The price of Gold was further advanced this forenoon by the cornering operation going on in Exchange-place. The modified authority voted by the House of Representatives, yesterday, on the subject of depleting the surplus Gold balances in the Treasury, was readily construed into the argument that the market could not be relieved from this source. The wealthy "ring" of Gold gamblers, in the locality referred to, had prepared themselves for this contingency, and by calling in and hoarding for a few days, or forcing settlements on all the Gold they had contracted for or lent out on the Street, have doubtless made a "good thing" of it by their sharp practice. With such people, the Public Credit is, of course, a secondary consideration. Some of them who, from their peculiar political sympathies, wish the Government no good, are, perhaps, excusable for joining the "ring" with others, who profess more loyalty; but the whole operation is a reproach to the market on the present limited Export demand for Gold and the large stock of Gold and Silver in the City for other objects. The Bill passed by the House of Representatives, yesterday, by anticipating the payment of the 1st April and 1st May Coupons on the Public Debt, if it has other good effect, will supply a sufficient sum from the Treasury to supply the daily wants of the Importers for Customs. And this demand for the last month or six weeks, it is known, contributed in no small degree to the success of the speculators for the rise. The quotations for Gold to-day ranged 167@169½ ⅌ cent., closing at the Second Board at 167½ ⅌ cent. It is probable that a good many settlements were forced at high prices before the close of Bank hours, in addition to which some parties who had hoarded for the high turn, brought out their Gold and made the deliveries of the day easier toward 3 o'clock. A rumor was current that one of the new National Banks had been used to promote the cornering operation referred to, because of the personal and political intimacy of the Broker in Exchange-place who holds the bag with the President of the Bank, and the fact that he had opened a special Gold account with him to the extent, perhaps, of a million of dollars. But we are well assured this afternoon that the Board of Directors of the Bank will take speedy measures to acquit the new establishment of so damaging an imputation.

The export demand for Bullion for the Asia, to-day, was only $270,000; chiefly in California bars. The rates of Exchange on London, though greatly unsettled by the speculation in Gold, is relatively cheaper than Gold Coin. The amount of United States Stocks, which went out by the steamer is variously estimated at from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000. There is a further demand for the 5.20s to-day, and the price advanced to 110¾@111 ⅌ cent., at the close of the day. We heard of no higher sales than 110¾ ⅌ cent. The purchases of this Stock yesterday, to go abroad, included a parcel of $500,000 from one of the large banks, at 110 ⅌ cent.

There is renewed and, if possible, increased speculative excitement on the Stock Exchange, to-day, on most of the fancies, without regard to cost. Three figures for old Cumberland are aimed at and 96 per cent. or within 4 per cent. of the mark was paid to-day. The same permanent fancy reached 78 per cent. to the surprise of a greatly excited Street over ten years ago, and has since been down to zero, and a contribution of $5 per share taken up to save the property from returning to the original mortgagees; the mortgage being $500,000, and the Capital $5,000,000 before the charity of $250,000 was contributed. We point to this from no distrust of the integrity of the new management, but as a type of what has been in years past, and is now of frenzied speculation in Wall and William streets. No wonder need be felt under the advance of $50 per share in Cumberland, which pays no dividend, at the rapid formation of new Coal fancies, which, at least, promise to pay, if all goes well after the mines in prospect are opened. One of these was brought out with eminent success on Saturday; the name scarcely yet known to the public, and another is on the stocks, (to use a shipwright's phrase, without intending a pun,) to-day. The transition from Coal to Gold Companies, we presume, will not be found very difficult, as the popular fever is directed to it, and if a few Marble or Salt or Copper Companies come in between the two, no great harm will be done to the assortment.

The Railway Shares were firmer than yesterday, and a strong upward turn was made on Erie Common Stock, which at one time touched 123 ⅌ cent., or 5 ⅌ cent. higher than yesterday Afternoon. The purchases of Fort Wayne and Chicago were also at higher figures and much excitement shown on Harlem, which went to 154 ⅌ cent. The demand was large for Cleveland and Pittsburgh, and Chicago and Northwest sold up to 64 ⅌ cent. as against 59½ last evening.

On the adjournment of the Second Regular Board, the following prices were quoted, as compared with Tuesday, at 4 o'clock. The Public Board was occupied with a speech from, and a large contribution to, Maj.-Gen. HANCOCK, for the recruiting cause of the Second Army Corps. Gold fell off to 166½ ⅌ cent.:

There was renewed activity of demand for Money from the Stock Exchange to-day, and lenders, in some instances, have marked their rate from 5 up to 6 ⅌ cent. on demand loans. The impression is that on the official announcement that subscriptions can be made to the new United States Loan, Money will pour into the Treasury for this object, and thus supersede the necessity for further issues of the 5 ⅌ cent. Legal Tender Notes.

The following bids were made to-day for the City Bank Shares:

The following offers were made at the Stock Board for the Railway Mortgages. We may as well add that 5 or 6 ⅌ cent. more than the daily quotation is privately bid for the mortgages of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Road, in dispute as to their convertibility into the Common Stock. Holders would do well to be on their guard in making a price. The same caution is due to the holders of the Second and Sinking Fund Mortgages of the Michigan Southern Road, now that the Common Stock is above par. The Directors of the concern, from a sense of fairness to all parties, will probably (and should certainly) feel compelled to follow their own precedent of last August, and make further concessions of their Funded Debt into Common Stock, whenever it can be done dollar for dollar. The circumstance that some of their number may have been short then and long in the Common Stock now, will scarcely influence the majority of the Board to overlook the present opportunity to reduce the mortgage incumbrances upon their property, if speculation in their non-dividend paying Common Shares should carry the price above the Bonds:

COUNTRY RESIDENCES.

ONE HOUR FROM CITY

For sale—Mansion, lodge, &c.: 20 acres, fine park, perfectly healthy, extensive view, peculiarly adapted to a gentleman's residence. Apply to T. BOND, No. 132 Broadway.

COUNTRY RESIDENCE FOR SALE—CASTLEWOOD—A first-class country place on Mountain-av., in Llewellyn Park, at Orange, N. J., only one hour from the City. The house is built of rough stone, under the direction of Alexander J. Davis, Architect.

The architectural style of the house is castelated domestic Gothic, irregular in plan, built in the most substantial manner, with stone lined with brick, and covered with slate and metal. The timbered doors, dressed to show construction, ornament the ceilings, are deafened throughout, and the whole pile, including the coachhouse and stable, may be considered fire-proof. The masonry is pelasgic; that is, jointed in rhomboidal form, and is of the trap-rock gray stone cropping out of the ridges of the neighboring mountains. It is the decomposed trap, mingled with the vegetable decomposition of ages, that renders the soil of this region so prolific, and so well adapted to the growth of trees, the variety, luxuriance and beauty of which surpass most places so near the City. This circumstance, and the planting of rare and curious trees and flowering shrubs, in addition to the indigenous vegetation, renders the domain of Castlewood, and the contiguous sites on the mountain, a region of more than ordinary interest to lovers of natural history, of landscape, and rural beauty.

The entrance hall, at which we arrive by a fine carriage road, is very commodious. Stairs, wholly of oak, ascending and descending, are upon the left of a door opening to the principal drawing-room, which has a bay and other windows looking west, north and east. Before you is a saloon, circular in form, connecting with the east front. The domestic apartments are to the right of the hall, and occupy the south wing.

Private stairs and a small boudoir separate the family parlor from a nursery and bedroom, and connect the entrance road with the basement, and covered way to the stables; beyond a laundry, well-room and cloister. A spacious kitchen, several steps above the ground level on three sides, communicates with the laundry, fuel-room, and store and cellar-rooms, a pantry, sub-hall and dining-room—the latter under the saloon, also circular in form, and opening upon a terrace-walk leading to the garden on one hand, which is well stocked with the choicest varieties of all kinds of fruit, and the grove and ramble on the other. The sub-basement contains the furnace and its accessories, ice (filled with 50 tons of clearest ice) and coal vaults.

The upper floor contains four bedrooms, beside a rotunda and tower observatory. The rotunda is adapted for a museum or music-room, library, picture gallery and billiards. It has a sky-light, oriel and other windows. It is the finest room in the mansion.

Five acres of land are offered for sale with this house, together with a right to the use of Llewellyn Park, which is a tract of 500 acres of land, beautifully situated on the eastern slope of Eagle Ridge (Orange Mountain), with a surface finely diversified, embracing deep ravines, bold, rocky cliffs, brooks of the purest spring water, picturesque old oaks, beeches and tulips, and a noble forest of the native evergreen and deciduous trees.

It is laid out and embellished with drives, walks, &c., in the modern natural style of landscape gardening, and 50 acres, known as the "Ramble," have been deeded in trust for the exclusive use and enjoyment of the purchasers of land lying within the park.

The rest of the tract of land, containing about 500 acres, has been divided into villa sites of from one to ten acres each. It was selected with special reference to the wants of citizens doing business in the City of New-York, and yet wishing accessible, retired and healthy homes in the country, but may be considered equally attractive to all citizens of the United States who contemplate locating in this neighborhood. Sloping to the southeast (the best exposure for health, cultivation, and protection from the winds of Winter,) it is favorably situated to catch the sea-breezes which prevail in Summer.

The whole tract abounds in pure, soft spring water.

It is believed that no spot within 20 miles of New-York is in all respects so healthy as the side of this mountain. It is almost the only locality so near the city where there is no fever and ague.

Purchasers of sites desiring to build of stone can obtain the material on the premises free of charge.

The privacy of the park, and of all the sites, is secured by lodges and gate-keepers at the entrances. The main entrance is on the valley road at the termination of Park-av., one mile from North Orange Railroad Station. As we ascend along the park avenues—seven miles of which are completed—Newark, New-York and their bays, Brooklyn, Staten Island and the Narrows are all taken at a glance. Upon reaching the top of the mountain, 700 feet above the level of the sea, a landscape more than 100 miles in extent spans the horizon. Cultivated fields and country seats, villages, towns and cities, ponds, rivers and bays, with the Nevesink Hills at the south, Nyack Mountain, Haverstraw Peak and the Highlands toward the North, with Long Island and the ocean in the east, all lie revealed to the eye. The natural panorama is acknowledged by all to be one of the finest in America.

LLEWELLYN PARK is less than one hour from New-York City via Morris and Essex Railroad, ten trains per day each way, foot of Barclay-st., viz.:

A. M.: 8:00, 9:00, 11:30; P. M.: 1:00, 2:00, 3:30, 4:00, 5:15, 6:30. (Also, via Christopher-st., but the ferry-boat leaves ten minutes earlier, and by Canal-st. ferry fifteen minutes earlier.)

Returning, the train leaves Orange at A. M.: 7:04, 7:43, 8:54, 10:09; P. M.: 1:48, 3:19, 3:54, 5:19, 6:42, 9:15.

And via New-Jersey Railroad and Orange and Newark horse railroad, foot of Cortland-st., twenty trips each way daily.

For ease of access, beauty and variety of scenery, for healthfulness of climate, for the intelligence and moral order of its population, in short, for all those considerations which combine to render a region attractive as a family residence, it is believed that the vicinity of Orange, especially the mountain side, possesses advantages not surpassed, if equaled, by any other place in the vicinity of New-York.

Castlewood may be approached via Tulip-av., Wildwood-av., Glen-av., and Park-way. Price $35,000.

For maps, terms, and particulars, as well as cards of admission, apply to the proprietor, L. S. HASKELL, Library Building, Orange, Essex County, N.J., or to T. B. MERRICK & SON, No. 69 William-st., N.Y.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

We print this morning very full accounts of the recent great raid from late Richmond papers, full files of which, as late as the 8th inst., we received last evening. The details given in these rebel accounts are full of intense interest. They give the first information as to how Col. Dahlgren and his party met with their misfortune, as well as interesting particulars concerning the whole raid. They admit that it was of a most daring character, and confess that much damage was done. They claim victory, however, because the force did not enter the city, and assert that only the local battalions for city defence, composed of department clerks and citizens, repulsed our forces. Dahlgren and his party, it seems, were ambushed, and he was standing unconcealed in the road, late at night, demanding his foe to surrender, when a volley was poured upon him, and he fell, pierced with five wounds. His command dispersed in the darkness, but most of them were captured in the morning. The accounts are garnished with the usual extravagant assertions, especially as to the number of prisoners captured, which they claim now reaches four or five hundred. The officers captured had been confined in dungeons, with a private negro soldier with each one as companion. In addition to this, Gen. Butler telegraphs that these prisoners are all confined in irons. The papers found on Col. Dahlgren's person, give the programme to be acted upon in entering the city—which included the release of the prisoners, the burning of the city, and the capture or killing of Davis and his crew, are made the subject of terrible threats by the Richmond journals, and Davis is urged to execute, without trial of any kind, all the prisoners taken from our columns. The exchange of prisoners has been resumed, and the rebels claim that it is under the old cartel, and that the questions of negro soldiers and Butler's recognition are still in abeyance. Nevertheless, Butler seems to be conducting the exchange. Sherman, they say, had done great damage in Mississippi.

A St. Louis telegram says that Gen. Sherman left Vicksburgh on the 28th ult., with several members of his staff, for a trip down the river to consult with Gen. Banks or Admiral Porter respecting future operations. The truth of the information cannot be implicitly credited. Gen. Grant is said to express himself in the highest terms of the success of Gen. Sherman's late raid, which resulted in the destruction of such large quantities of rebel property as to seriously cripple their armies in the Southwest.

FROM EUROPE.

By the arrival of the Nova Scotian at Portland and the Australasian at this port, we have three days later news from Europe—the dates being to the 28th ult. Affairs between the Danes and Germans are unchanged. The conference proposed by England on the basis of guaranteeing the authority as well as the indivisibility of the Duchies, and preserving the territorial arrangements hitherto existing, met with favor from the Great Powers, including France. Denmark, however, still postponed her reply to the invitation, expecting that the successful defence of her new military positions would give her higher standing in any deliberations than if she joined the conference, with the late defeat still fresh in the minds of her neighbors. Lord Palmerston had announced in the House of Commons, that orders had been sent to the Cape of Good Hope to release the pirate Tuscaloosa, whose detention was not justified by international law. In the House of Lords, on the 25th, Earl Russell said that there was no longer any objection to producing the papers in the case of the Mersey rams, and the rebel vessels Saxon and Alabama. The 5th of April has been fixed for the trial of the Pampero case in the Edinburgh Court of Session. The suppression of the African Slave-Trade was under discussion in the House of Commons on the 26th, and Lord Palmerston said in reply to a question as to whether the Government intended to station cruisers off the Coast of Cuba, that the more prudent and humane course was to send the vessels to the coast of Africa. The London Post's city article says that private advices from Paris, upon which reliance can be placed, again allude to negotiations now in progress, preparatory to the recognition of the Confederate States by the French Government, although any official acknowledgment of this fact would, at the present, be thought premature and undesirable. The three men arrested for seizing the schooner J. L. Gerity claim to have been justified in their conduct by written authority of the Confederate Government. The counsel for the United States demanded that the prisoners be sent to New-York under the Extradition Treaty. The case was remanded till the 4th inst. The trial of the four Italian conspirators had been concluded in France, two being sentenced to transportation for life, and the other two to twenty years' imprisonment.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, yesterday, the consideration of the repeal of the Fugitive Slave Bill was postponed for one week. A Committee of Conference on the disagreements on the Deficiency Bill was appointed. The resolution calling for the papers and evidence in the McDowell Military Commission was rejected. The bill to equalize the pay of soldiers was taken up, and Mr. Davis spoke at length in opposition to colored troops in general. A memorial was presented from the agriculturists of Ohio, asking for a revenue tax of $1 each on dogs, especially as they destroy in Ohio $100,000 worth of sheep annually. The Senate, after executive session, adjourned.

The House yesterday passed several important bills. A resolution was passed directing the Committee on Ways and Means to inquire into the expediency of so changing the Revenue Law as not to exempt Government bonds from State and municipal taxation. A resolution of thanks jointly to Gens. Rosecrans and Thomas, for services at the battle of Chickamauga, was passed. A bill was passed to establish a Bureau of Military Justice, a Brigadier-General, and two assistants with the rank of Colonel, to compose the bureau. A bill was also passed regulating the dismissal of officers from the army and navy. Mr. Deming, of Connecticut, reported a bill from the Committee on Military Affairs, declaring the Camden and Atlantic, and the Raritan and Delaware Bay Railroads, public highways, and according them privileges of transporting mails, troops, munitions of war, bonded goods, passengers, and open to all the privileges of commerce generally. The Appropriation Bills were taken up and discussed, without action, until the adjournment.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate, yesterday, petitions for and against a Broadway railroad were presented, and also a petition asking action relative to the nuisance of overcrowding cars and stages. A bill was noticed to divide the Seventh Judicial District of New-York and locate the Ninth Judicial District. Bills were introduced authorizing the banks of this State to become banking associations under the laws of Congress. Repealing the act of 1848 regulating telegraph companies; for the completion of the Battery extension, New-York; a bill continuing the improvement of the navigation of the Hudson River was passed. A resolution suggesting full pay to Gen. Robert Anderson and placing him on the retired list on account of his distinguished services and infirm health was tabled; and another resolution proposing that our representatives in Congress be instructed to vote for a law securing to all the volunteers from this State, under the call of 1861, the bounty of one hundred dollars paid to the full two years men met a similar fate.

In the Assembly the Metropolitan Police Bill was reported precisely as it passed the Senate, and after some discussion thereupon was ordered to a third reading. A report was presented in favor of an entrance to the Central Park on 86th-street. Bills were passed legalizing the acts of the Brooklyn Common Council, to build a public market in the City of New-York; to provide for an additional number of notaries public in New-York City; for the better protection of seamen in the port of New-York. Bills were introduced granting additional powers to the Police Magistrates in New-York City; regulating the carrying of passengers on horse railroads; to amend the New-York City charter.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Board of Aldermen held a short session yesterday, but the proceedings were of great interest. Mayor Gunther sent in a message in regard to City railroads. He takes the ground that, by our ancient charters, the right of the control of the streets is wholly in the City, but recognizing recent decisions to the contrary, proposes to ask the Legislature to pass an act requiring all City railroads to pay monthly, ten per cent. of the gross receipts into the City Treasury. He asks the Common Council to sustain him in making such an application at Albany. The Mayor also transmitted proposals of G. E. Winants to freight ashes and street sweepings from the City at four cents per load, which is one-half the price paid at present. This offer, the Mayor says, has been rejected by the City Inspector. Both messages were referred—that in regard to railroads was directed to be printed and a copy sent to each member of the Legislature. The Finance Committee presented a voluminous report in regard to the general subject of taxes and appropriations, together with the annual Appropriation Bill. The report is a lengthy and elaborate effort to demonstrate that the increase of taxation in the City is mainly chargeable to the Board of Supervisors and independent Commissioners created by the Legislature. The report and ordinance were laid over under the rule, and were ordered to be published in a number of papers. The Board adjourned to Friday, at 2 P. M.

In the Court of Common Pleas, yesterday, before Judge Daly, at Special Term, a motion to set aside the execution against Signorita Sulzer, at the suit of Anne Wilson, the servant girl, brought for slander, was denied, the Court holding that a married woman may be arrested in a civil action where she has a separate estate.

The prize-steamer Cumberland, from Key West, arrived here yesterday. She was captured Feb. 5, fifty miles south of Mobile by the De Soto, is a finely built and splendid vessel and has a valuable cargo.

Breadstuffs opened yesterday rather briskly, at firmer prices, but closed tamely. An active business was transacted in Provisions and Whisky, which were buoyant. Groceries, Hay, Hops, Metals, Spices, and Petroleum, were in fair demand and firm. Hides and Leather were rather more sought after. Tallow was more freely purchased. The freight market was firmer, with a fair business reported. There were 415 vessels of all classes in port.

The speculation on the Stock Exchange yesterday was higher than on Monday or Tuesday on most descriptions. The Gold speculators took advantage of the modified action of the House of Representatives yesterday to put the price temporarily up to 167@169 per cent. It closed 166½. The export demand was only $270,000 for the Asia. Money partially active and the rates, in some instances, higher to the Stock Exchange borrowers.

A NEW WAY TO PAY OLD DEBTS.—The embryonic Emperor Maximilian was to arrive in Paris the first week of this month, on his way to the City of Mexico. Our Paris correspondent mentions that one of the reasons impelling Maximilian to run the risk of his neck in Mexico is that he is in debt eight millions of francs, which he is unable to pay, but which he hopes to be able to pick up in Mexico. This is the most plausible reason we have yet seen given for Maximilian's foolish eagerness to get a throne. Many are the shifts resorted to by men afflicted with debts they cannot pay, and who are pushed by their creditors. Debt has driven Kings to war, plunder and oppression; under its scourgings, respectable men have been guilty of murder, suicide, arson, and every crime prohibited by the decalogue; it has betrayed gentlemen into trickery and meanness, and ladies into wearing Spring fashions in Midsummer. The case in hand shows that a Hapsburg Prince in debt is as desperate as any other man; but whether the expedient he has resorted to, of getting out of it, will be successful remains to be seen. We do not know what wages Maximilian expects to get as Emperor of Mexico, but he must needs have a very large annual salary, and subsist very economically, and live to a very old age, if he would save up eight millions of francs during his reign in Mexico. At the very opening of his imperial career he will have to purchase a crown, and a throne, and a whole lot of new clothes; and it is evident that, being already so heavily in debt, he will have to get all these necessaries on credit, and thus he will run still farther in debt. If he undertake to travel much through his empire, he will need to buy new garments very often, for we learn by recent advices from Mexico that the robbers who infest every highway in that country, are getting so desperate of late that they enter the diligences and strip all travellers stark naked—which would be a dreadful plight for an Emperor to be in. We think, therefore, on the whole, that Maximilian's honorable ambition to pay up his old debts out of his pickings and stealings in the New World, is likely to be blasted; and as there will almost certainly be a scramble for crowns in Europe before many years, we advise him to stay there—where his chances for getting and keeping one are much better than they are here.

The Election in New-Hampshire—A Sure Sign for the Year.

Union men in New-Hampshire, as well as out of it, had painful doubts of how this election would result. Last year the Union candidate received only a plurality of a few hundreds, not a majority at all; and the State, by the subsequent drafts, has since sustained a further depletion of many thousands of Union voters. The recent canvass of the State by the State Union Committee figured out a majority of only about six hundred for Gov. Gilmore; the votes, as polled, show a majority for him of full four thousand.

Thus the first State election of the year terminates. The Union men made the issue with the utmost distinctness. In their nominating convention they not only specially indorsed the Administration of Mr. Lincoln, but, by express resolution, they recommended him for reëlection. They renominated for Governor one whose thorough Unionism could be read in his official record. All the Anti-Administration elements, of every character, from the Democracy that adhered to the old party organization only in sheer passiveness, to the most virulent type of rebel-sympathizing, peace-at-any-price Copperheadism, were concentrated upon the opposing candidate. His defeat, therefore, so decisively signal far beyond expectation, must be taken as an infallible premonition of the fate which this year has in reserve for the opponents of the Administration in every loyal State.

Political contests may have different results in different States where mere material interests are involved, inasmuch as these interests differ in different States. There is no universal pocket standard. Nor, in fact, is there any certainty, or even probability, that there will be a sameness of conclusion in the different States on any public question addressed only to the head. Our political annals are full of instances where the most opposite judgments have been given by the people of different States upon such public questions during the same political year. Geographical locality, party management, comparative popular intelligence, and many other circumstances, have much to do with the decision of that class of issues. But at the present time, the great questions before the public are questions that appeal principally to the heart. They touch directly upon a man's love of country. They stir this feeling first of all. But the hearts of men are far nearer alike than their heads, or their pockets; and when it comes to a question of heart mainly, the response which is given in one State is almost certain to be that which will proceed from all. It will be found that the patriotic spirit which has just found such decided expression in New-Hampshire, is but the sure index of the popular feeling which everywhere will sweep down the enemies of the Administration.

We do not mean to say that our own State, and those others which gave adverse decisions a year and eighteen months ago, did so because a majority of their people were unpatriotic. The enemies of the Administration never carried these elections on any clearly defined anti-war issue. In fact, they generally professed to be war men, and only solicitous that the war should be more vigorously and ably conducted. In this State, they expressly said what amounted to that in the resolutions of their nominating convention; and Horatio Seymour substantially declared the same thing in his speech accepting the nomination. Care was taken in the other issues which were made—the Suspension of Habeas Corpus, the Emancipation Proclamation, and Confiscation—to avoid all appearance of opposition to the war, and to present them solely as promotive of the salvation of the Union. By crafty management of this kind in this and other States, the patriotism of thousands of good and true men took no alarm, and was beguiled into sustaining the Anti-Administration tickets. The military reverses which attended the war through all its early stage, made this all the more easy. But the successes of the enemies of the Administration, thus secured, inspired them with new boldness, and they soon disclosed their real purpose to obstruct, and, in the end, stop the war. The measures necessary to raise money and to raise men to carry on the war were assailed, and peace propositions were presented in several of the State Legislatures and supported by the anti-Administration members with almost entire unanimity. Had it not been for the fortunate fact that no gubernatorial election was held in several of the larger States in that year, that the old loyal Governors still retained their places, and that Horatio Seymour thus failed to have allies in the gubernatorial chairs of other great States, in all earthly probability there would have been an open combination under the banner of State Sovereignty, and an actual resort to violence against the General Government. Horatio Seymour went as far in that direction as he dared to go alone. With the support of other Governors, of the same mind, he would have gone any length to stop the war.

As this disposition of the leaders of the Opposition was revealed, the party strength waned. The patriotic spirit of the people would indorse no such affiliation with the rebellion. The anti-Administration party carried not a single State last year, excepting New-Jersey. This year, as the election in New-Hampshire unerringly betokens, the popular heart is set against them even more firmly. No earthly power can save them from a fatal overthrow in the coming Presidential election. There are popular instincts which no party can outrage and live, as these political leaders might have learned by a little study of the fate of the Federal party.

The Case of the Saxon.

The case of the bark Saxon is by far the most important of all those upon which the recent debates in the English Parliament upon our prize courts and navy were founded. There are two branches of it, as there were in the case of the Chesapeake—the one being the question of the legality of the capture of the vessel, and the other questions arising out of the death of one of the officers of the vessel at the hands of the captors.

On the first branch an effort was made in both Houses, by the opponents of the Government, to excite odium against us by alleging that the vessel was captured by the Vanderbilt within British jurisdiction. But this fact was most explicitly denied in the House of Lords by Earl Russell, and in the House of Commons by the Attorney-General. The latter stated the facts to be, that the Island of Angra Pequina had indeed been ordered to be annexed to the Cape, by proclamation of Sir G. Grey, in January, 1861; but this proclamation was issued subject to the Queen's confirmation, which was never given, possession of the island never was taken, and "the opinion, both of Her Majesty's Government and the Government of the Cape, clearly was, that there was no right or title to represent the place as part of Her Majesty's possessions."

We may add to this, that in the sworn claim put in in the prize suit here on behalf of the owners of the vessel, the capture is stated to have been made "at Angra Pequina, on the West Coast of Africa, a foreign port, belonging to the independent chief, David Christian." So that, if any breach of neutral territory has been committed by the capture, it is not for England to complain of it, but for the independent chief, David Christian, and we have not as yet heard of any complaint from him.

The questions arising out of the capture of the vessel are now before our Prize Court for decision, and it will be time enough to discuss them after the court shall have rendered its judgment. It may be that, as in the case of the Chesapeake, the decision of the court may remove all possibility of controversy between the two countries upon the case.

But the questions arising out of the death of the mate of the Saxon, at the hands of Lieut. Donovan, of the Vanderbilt, are undoubtedly far more serious. One of the speakers in the House of Commons, Col. Sykes, who claimed to have depositions from some of the sailors of the Saxon who were witnesses of the occurrence, stated the facts as shown by the depositions to be—

> "That the ship, after remaining at the port eleven days, proceeded to take in a cargo of skins and wool: that shortly afterward an officer of the Vanderbilt demanded her papers, that they were sent to Capt. Baldwin, that another boat's crew, armed, went on board the Saxon, and that before the return of the officer who had obtained the papers the Captain of the Saxon was ordered below, and that a sentry was placed over him; that Donovan was standing on the poop with several of his armed men around him; that Mr. Gray, who was half-way up the ladder, was ordered down; that Gray did not answer or do anything, when Donovan repeated the order, "Go down, or I'll shoot you." Gray was going down, when the officer pushed him on the shoulder. This caused Gray to stumble. In trying to recover himself he turned his face toward the officer, who drew his revolver and shot him dead, the bullet taking effect in the back of his neck, thus proving that the unfortunate man was not presenting a front to Donovan."

The Solicitor-General defended the Government from the charge which was made upon it of being slow and lukewarm in seeking redress for this death of the mate, by stating that the first information of it which had reached himself and the Attorney-General had been received only three weeks before, and that a demand had been immediately made upon our Government that the offender should be put on trial for murder, and there had not yet been time for an answer to that demand.

Now, whether the facts of the case were really as stated by Col. Sykes or not, we do not know, of course. We hope that it will turn out that the occurrence was accidental, as the Solicitor-General said was claimed by Donovan, for we should very much regret having the honor of our navy stained by such an occurrence as Col. Sykes narrated. But, whatever may have been the real facts, the English Government, on having such a case laid before it, could do no less than demand a legal investigation of them by the trial of the offender, and we are sure that our Government will turn no deaf ear to such an application.

We agree entirely with the speakers in the House of Commons that the matter of the capture of the vessel and that of the death of the mate are entirely distinct. We think also that the latter is by far the most important. We ought not to hesitate in putting the case in the way of having a legal examination, whether it were demanded by England or not. Human life is too precious a thing to be destroyed in this way unpunished, unless on a formal trial it shall appear that the case is not one for punishment. It is best for our navy officers that a trial should be had. Men who are exercising such powers as they, need to feel now and then, that there is a yet mightier power in the law. It is best for our national reputation that a trial should be had; and moreover now, when England is disposed to treat us in a more friendly way than she was, we should certainly reciprocate by a prompt attention to any reasonable demand from her. We have confidence in our Government that they will do what is right and friendly, not only in reference to the trial of Lieut. Donovan, but in reference to remuneration to the family of the mate for his loss, and that our enemies in England will not find that we have put weapons into their hands, with which successfully to attack our friends.

HOW COL. DAHLGREN WAS KILLED.—The rebel journals furnish us with the particulars of this gallant young soldier's death. He had escaped the toils of the enemy from the immediate vicinity of Richmond, and reached the north bank of the Mattapony River, on his way to Gloucester Point, pursued by a force in his rear. At midnight of the 3rd, he met the enemy in ambush in front and was fired upon. The Colonel fell, pierced by five bullets, and his command dispersed, part escaping, and the remainder, about ninety, according to rebel accounts, were captured. The cowardly assassins admit—and boast of it, indeed—that had they not acted thus, Dahlgren would have cut his way through their columns, as he had done through all before him thus far. So the stealthy bullet was sped from out of the midnight, with no other warning than that the assassin gives, and the young hero fell. The wretches dared not meet his flashing blade, face to face; surrounded, pursued, harassed in front, and flank, and rear, he had cut down and through a dozen of their columns, and but for this murderous expedient of the enemy, would have reached our lines in safety. The rebels may boast of this achievement, but the world will accord them the distinction of midnight assassins.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—There was a good attendance last night to witness Mozart's masterpiece, "Don Giovanni"—a work which, apart from its intrinsic merits, has peculiar interest at the present time, when the town is fairly crazy on the subject of a totally different style of music. "Faust" and "Don Giovanni" are as wide asunder as the poles. The simple exquisite melodies of the latter seem to be imperishable, and are as heartily appreciated as, and surely better understood, than the more reticent and vague fancies of Gounod. It argues well, however, that both these works are the best favorites of our public. Mozart's opera is famous for restoring the fortunes of managers. It is always sure to draw a good house, and this too is the case with "Faust." May they long run side by side without touching or clashing! It were well for art if it could boast of more such productions.

The cast last evening was the same as heretofore, with a single exception. Signor Biachi was hoarse, and the rôle of Leporello had therefore to be intrusted to Herr Weinlich, whose experience is always valuable on such occasions. The usual morceaux received the customary honors, and all passed off pleasantly.

BROADWAY CIRCUS.—The sterling equestrian and gymnastic performances given at the Broadway Amphitheatre in connection with a variety of novel feats by trained animals continue to attract excellent houses. This is the last week of the hurdle-leaping buffalo and educated bull. On Saturday afternoon, a day exhibition will be given for the accommodation of families and the juveniles.

THE WAR IN THE SOUTHWEST.

Gen. Grant's Opinion of the Military Situation—Gen. Sherman's Movements—Great Damage Done to the Rebels in the Late Expedition—Immense Captures of Negroes, Mules and Horses—Extensive Destruction of Supplies—The Situation at Chattanooga.

ST. LOUIS, Wednesday, March 9.

The steamer Luminary, from Lower River, brings intelligence that Gen. Sherman and staff left Vicksburgh on the 28th ult., for below, designing to have an interview with Gen. Banks, or Admiral Porter, or both, with reference to his future movements.

FROM CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, Wednesday, March 9.

A special dispatch from Columbus to the Gazette says

Gen. Grant, on his way East, in conversation with a distinguished Ohio officer, expressed himself entirely satisfied with the situation of military affairs.

He spoke in the highest terms of Gen. Sherman's expedition, which had given the rebellion the severest blow since the capture of Vicksburgh.

Gen. Sherman has destroyed forage and provisions enough to subsist the rebel army from three to six months.

In one place Gen. Sherman destroyed over two millions of dollars worth of property.

In other places he destroyed immense stores. Thousands of bushels of corn and large quantities of wheat were set on fire and consumed.

He brought in large droves of cattle, several thousand head of mules, 8,000 negroes, and over 400 prisoners, with but trifling loss in men and materials on our side.

In addition to this, by the destruction of very important railroad lines, Gen. Sherman has released Gen. McPherson's Corps from doing guard duty along the Mississippi, and restored them to active service.

FROM CHATTANOOGA.

CINCINNATI, Wednesday, March 9.

The Commercial of this city has the following special dispatch:

CHATTANOOGA, Sunday, March 6.

All is quiet in front, except an occasional exchange of shots between the advanced cavalry pickets.

To-day a large rebel cavalry force appeared before Nickajack Gap, and pressed our cavalry out.

Deserters from the rebel army continue to arrive at the rate of thirty a day.

Another special dispatch, dated Chattanooga, the 7th inst., says:

The rebel cavalry have retired and our forces now hold Nickajack Gap.

It is not unlikely that the rebels may assume the offensive.

A collision occurred between a freight train, near Stevenson, Ala., on Saturday night, killing four ladies and two men, and wounding several others.

A large force of rebel cavalry attacked 93 men of the Third Tennessee at Panther Springs on the 5th inst. Our loss was two killed, eight wounded and twenty-two captured. The rebel loss was thirty killed and wounded.

AN IMPORTANT PRIZE.

Arrival of the Cumberland.

The prize steamer Cumberland, Acting-Master L. H. Partridge, arrived yesterday morning, from Key West, Feb. 28, via Hilton Head, where she landed Judge Philip Fraser and daughter, and sailed on Wednesday at 12 M. Being short of coal, she put into Beaufort 4th; was supplied, and sailed Sunday, 6th, for New-York. She was captured Feb. 5, 50 miles south of Mobile, by the United States steamer De Soto. She has proved herself to be a splendid seaboat and she is a substantial, well built vessel in every respect. She was built in 1847, and most thoroughly constructed; her cabin skylights are emblazoned with the arms of the Earl of Eglington, whose crest also adorns the cabin windows of the prize steamers Scotia, Anglia and Adela, as well as the Cumberland's. The cabins of the Cumberland are fitted up in the most luxurious manner. Her machinery is pronounced faultless, the boilers are new, and the hull being of iron of extra thickness and well braced and fastened, renders her exceedingly stiff in a seaway. [She could be easily transformed into a gunboat. The Navy could not make a better selection. She was used as a transport in the Crimean war, has been in the St. Petersburgh and London trade, and once ran in the Galway and New-York line. She is the finest steamship captured during the war. Her cargo is also very valuable; it is sent to New-York with the vessel for sale, and will be advertised in a few days by the United States Marshal of Florida—James C. Clapp—who is on board.

The following are the names of the officers who brought her to this port: Leander H. Partridge, Acting Master Commanding; Jona. S. Higby, Chas. R. Harris, George H. Disby, Acting Masters; Wm. M. Happer, Second Assistant Engineer; Robt. A. Pierson and Mr. Morton, Third Assistant Engineers; James C. Clapp, Esq., passenger.

While the Cumberland was lying at Beaufort, the U. S. steamer Pequot arrived from the blockade, towing with her the prize steamer Don, which she had captured the 4th inst. The Don is an iron steam propeller, 600 tons burden, and has an assorted cargo from Nassau. This ship has been a successful blockade-runner up to the time of her capture, having peculiarly been fitted up to conceal herself and avoid pursuit. She is schooner-rigged, but her masts are so constructed that they can be lowered down on deck in a few moments, and as her smoke-stack is telescopic, it can be depressed almost to the rail. She is, in ordinary weather, invisible at the distance of seven miles, and at night could elude the most searching lookout.

She, however, fell into the clutches of the Pequot, although she outran the Dacotah, which vessel pursued her several hours the day previous to her capture.

The night before the Don's capture a white painted side-wheel blockade-runner was seen to go ashore twenty-five miles south of Beaufort; three of our cruisers started Sunday night in search.

The Cumberland left at Beaufort, N. C., 6th inst., United steamers Dacotah, Eutaw, Aries, Quaker City, Keystone State, Pequot, Don, (prize.)

Platt, the dwelling and dry goods store of W. H. Butler, and the stores of Messrs. D. H. Southwick and J. Butler & Co., boot and shoe dealers. A man named Edgarton was killed, and Mr. Newton F. Hart was seriously injured by falling bricks.

OBITUARY.

Mr. Pelatiah Perit.

The death of Mr. P. Perit, lately President of the Chamber of Commerce, in this City, was announced in our columns yesterday. It occurred at his recent residence in New-Haven, Tuesday morning, March 8, in the seventy-ninth year of his age. He has been for so long a period prominent in financial and commercial circles, and has so often represented the merchants of New-York on public occasions, that his death will be widely felt and lamented.

Mr. Perit was born at Norwich, Conn., June 23, 1785, the son of Mr. John Perit, and a descendant from a Huguenot family which sought a refuge in our country at an early period in the colonial history. His maternal grandfather, from whom he inherited not only his Christian name but also a deep interest in the laws of finance and political economy, was the well-known Pelatiah Webster, of Philadelphia, the author of various financial essays which were published about the time of the formation of our National Government. The death of Mr. Perit's father gave him an early home in the family of his grandfather, and among the recollections of his youthful days, he has often referred to the evening gatherings which were held at Mr. Webster's, attended by the Members of Congress assembled in Philadelphia, and devoted to the discussion of important public projects. This youthful introduction to affairs, awakened a love of political and financial studies which continued through Mr. Perit's life. Mr. Webster was a personal friend and correspondent of the celebrated Dr. Stiles, President of Yale College, in which institution he had graduated, and perhaps at their suggestion the mother of Mr. Perit detetermined to give him a liberal education. His preliminary studies were pursued in Philadelphia, but when he and his elder brother, Mr. John W. Perit, (afterward a China merchant in Philadelphia,) were nearly ready for college, their mother removed with them to New-Haven. Her eldest son graduated at Yale College in the class of 1801, the younger, the subject of this sketch, in the following year. As we look over the record of the class of 1802, in Yale College, lately printed by their "Historian," the Rev. Dr. D. D. Field, we are interested in observing the number of useful and honored persons who are there commemorated. Dr. Field himself is well known, not only by his own career, but by that of his sons, who are still active citizens of New-York. Mr. Jeremiah Evarts, father of Mr. Wm. M. Evarts, is another member of the class. Judge Samuel Hubbard, of Boston, two Governors of Connecticut, Tomlinson and Pond, William Maxwell, of Virginia, the President of Hampden Sydney College, and Isaac C. Baker, formerly United States Senator, were conspicuous in their several spheres. Mr. John A. Davenport, formerly a merchant in this city, is one of the survivors in the class still residing in New-Haven. Dr. Field says that none of the class turned out ill. How much of their influence was due to the care of President Dwight, who had recently entered upon his duties as the head of the college, when this class was admitted, we will not attempt to say. Certainly, all the graduates of that day, and Mr. Perit in particular, regarded, with life-long admiration, their honored instructor.

After leaving college, Mr. Perit, whose religious convictions were already remarkably deep and earnest, seriously considered the question of becoming a candidate for the ministry, but mature reflection at length convinced him that it would be better for him to enter upon a life of commercial business. Still his interest in theological reading, as well as in practical religious efforts, were life-long characteristics.

His first mercantile experience was in Philadelphia, from which port he made, we believe, several voyages to the West Indies. Among the pleasant incidents of his life in Philadelphia, the writer remembers hearing him refer to the visit of Humboldt, who brought introductions to the house in which he was employed, and it devolved upon the young clerk to escort the distinguished traveler to the various objects of interest in the City of Penn.

Mr. Perit removed to New-York in 1809, and a few years later became one of the partners in the firm of Goodhue & Co., continuing so until its dissolution, at the end of 1861. Mr. Jonathan Goodhue, the founder of the house, died in 1848, after which Mr. Perit was the senior member of the firm, two sons of Mr. Goodhue and Messrs. Weston and Gray becoming copartners. We need not refer in this community to the standing of Messrs. Goodhue & Co. Their correspondence was very extensive, and their transactions were of great importance in various portions of the globe.

Mr. Perit was repeatedly called to fill important posts. He was for many years a Director in the Bank of Commerce, and President of the Seamen's Savings Bank. In the days of Mayor Wood he was appointed one of the new "Police Commissioners" of the City under very peculiar circumstances. Conflicting interests, it will be remembered, prevented the organization of the board. The succession to a vacant seat in the commission was a point upon which the two opposing parties had come to a deadlock. After long delays, Mr. Perit was nominated for the office and elected. Civil life was not congenial to his tastes, but, in view of the emergency under which he was chosen, he accepted the office at much personal inconvenience, and discharged its duties until the difficulties were over. Many will remember the satisfaction with which his acceptance was received by the community.

Eleven years ago he was chosen President of the Chamber of Commerce. According to the rules of that body he could not be reëlected except by unanimous vote. This honor was again and again conferred upon him for ten successive years. He filled the position with distinguished ability. Under his guidance this time-honored association of merchants has taken an important part in many measures of public interest. To all such projects Mr. Perit devoted his energies with the liveliest zeal. We need only instance the reception of the Japanese Embassadors, the welcome to the Prince of Wales, and, above all, the prompt and hearty support of the National Government at the outset of the war, as examples of the passing transactions of the chamber in which he was particularly interested.

His life was not devoted to business alone, but he was one of the most constant friends of religious and benevolent undertakings. As a merchant, he felt it to be a duty to do all in his power for the welfare of seamen. He was chiefly instrumental, it is believed, in changing the old established custom that foreign packets should make their departure on Sunday. He was for a long while President of the American Seaman's Friend Society. There was nothing in the Presidency of the Chamber of Commerce which gave him more pleasure than the ex officio charge which thus devolved upon him, in part, of that noble charity on Staten Island—the Sailors' Snug Harbor. There are many who can testify to the enthusiastic interest which he showed in this institution.

Near the house at Bloomingdale, in which Mr. Perit resided for a large part of his life, the New-York Orphan Asylum was situated. He delighted to benefit the boys and girls in this establishment by incessant watchfulness for their interests, by constantly taking part in their moral and religious instruction, and by occasional holiday celebrations for their amusement.

He was likewise an officer in the American Bible Society, the American Tract Society, the New-York and Brooklyn Foreign Missionary Society, and many kindred institutions. He was at one time a trustee of the New-York University and of the Union Theological Seminary. It is nearly five years since, in view of his advancing years, Mr. Perit determined to removed to New-Haven and gradually withdraw from his various responsible posts. One by one he has laid them down, entering with almost a young man's zeal into a new round of occupations in New-Haven.

That his mind might be profitably occupied with some definite task, he determined to collect materials for the History of the Commerce of the United States. On his retirement from the Chamber of Commerce, a formal resolution was passed by that body, urging him to prosecute and complete these investigations. The industry and perseverance with which he applied himself to this great undertaking were very remarkable. He has left behind him extended manuscripts as the result of his prolonged studies and experienced reflection.

Few men anywhere have taken a deeper interest in the progress of the war than Mr. Perit. He has watched every phase of the rebellion political, financial and strategical, with unwearied scrutiny—believing, in the darkest as well as the brightest hours, that Providence had in store for our country a restoration of the Union, with even higher national blessings than have ever yet been enjoyed. From the first he believed and rejoiced to believe that the system of Slavery was doomed to a speedy destruction.

We leave to others the delineation of Mr. Perit's intellectual and moral characteristics. We have only attempted to sketch the outward incidents of his life—to show the various public services of an honored merchant of New-York.

TO THE DRUG TRADE AND FANCY DEALERS.
THE NIGHT BLOOMING CEREUS
PIRATED.
PROSECUTIONS COMMENCED.

In vindication of their own rights and for the protection of the public, the undersigned have resolved to invoke the aid of the law in all cases in which their celebrated Perfume, "The Night Blooming Cereus," is or may be counterfeited or simulated. An injunction has already been obtained from the Supreme Court against certain jobbing houses of this City prohibiting them from selling a preparation purporting to be the Night Blooming Cereus, made by D. & G. A. Wright, of Philadelphia. A prosecution has been commenced in Philadelphia, and others will be instituted here forthwith. The law of this State, on the subject, is simple and to the point. It constitutes the copying or counterfeiting of trade-marks a criminal offence, as also the sale of the articles which bear the fraudulent symbols. This law will be enforced to the utmost by the subscribers against all who trench upon their rights, as sole manufacturers and proprietors of the Night Blooming Cereus for the Handkerchief.

This rare perfume, it is admitted, cannot be successfully imitated. The secret of its preparation is confined to the firm who manufacture and own it. Labels, however, are more easily copied than subtle chemical combinations, and it is therefore intended that the enterprise of the individuals who hope to cheat the public by mock externals, shall be promptly suppressed by the strong hand of Justice. PHALON & SON, No. 517 Broadway.

JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT, in the early stages of all diseases of the respiratory organs, will soon remove all apprehensions of danger, and that coughs, colds and hoarseness are effectually and speedily cured by this standard remedy. TESTIMONIAL FROM ONE OF THE MOST RESPECTABLE CITIZENS OF NEW-YORK.
DEAFNESS AND CATARRH CURED.

No. 420 Sixth-av., New-York, Dec. 2, 1863.

I was deaf for several years, and hearing of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I was induced to place myself under his care, and I am now happy to state that my hearing was entirely restored after a short treatment. I was also suffering from chronic catarrh, of which I was also cured by the skillful treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg. I do but justice to the Doctor in stating that in treating me he displayed that skill and knowledge which have already procured for him such a deserved reputation, and that the principles which direct his system of curing Deafness and Catarrh are such as to render success certain, in my opinion. Many months have passed since Dr. Von Eisenberg restored my hearing, and it continues as good as ever.

O. HOPKINS.

CATARRH CURED.
READ!

I have been suffering for a long time from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery, and very painful. My nostrils were constantly obstructed with a pouring fluid. That frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, often attended with a fullness of my throat, great soreness, and a continual dropping. Dr. Von Eisenberg has cured me of all these disagreeable sufferings. I may, indeed, say that I feel a new life. The treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg is as skillful as it is successful. It is in my opinion impossible to overrate the benefit I have received at his hands. I heartily recommend any one suffering like myself to place themselves under Dr. Von Eisenberg's care, with a certainty of being speedily cured.

Harlem, July 30, 1863.

I have been deaf for over twenty-five years, and Dr. Von Eisenberg operated on both of my ears without the slightest pain—a thing that I could not believe could be done. I now hear well, and feel as I never felt for the last twenty years. The dexterity and skill with which the operation was performed evince the highest practical ability. I hear perfectly. It is now over a month since the operation, and I continue to feel as well as ever.

WILLIAM LIDDLE,
Harlem, 126th-st., between 2d and 3d avs.

No. 134 Allen-st., New-York, Feb. 9, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.

JOHN TAYLOR.

New-York, July 19, 1862.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with coagulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.
READ.

New-York, March 20, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he has shown in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

BRANDRETH'S PILLS ARE VEGETABLE, and of universal usefulness in all cases of sickness. They purify the blood, and so expel disease from the body. They have been established one hundred and twelve, and have been used by many persons now living for upwards of seventy years. Many honest physicians use them in their practice as their sole purgative and alterative. They are believed to possess a vegetable cell, similar to that which constitutes the vitality of the blood. Dr. Brandreth has concentrated this principle in the Life Addition Pills, one of which is intended to contain five times as many of this vegetable cell principle as the Brandreth Pills, and are equally safe, and one pill is the usual dose.

These medicines mildly but surely cleanse the whole extent of the alimentary canal. They give increased power to the circulation of the blood, by which it deposits any impurities it may contain in the bowels, which organ expels them from the body.

This action may be continued for days, or weeks, or months, as the mildness or urgency of the disease may demand; or until the entire body has been evacuated and re-made from the food consumed.

How important it is that persons of feeble frame, of impure constitutions, should without delay commence with these pure and wholesome medicines.

See that B. Brandreth is on the Government stamp, in white letters.

They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhœa and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private United States stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the United States law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties refilling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

CHICAGO AND GREAT EASTERN

RAILWAY COMPANY,
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,
FOR $2,000,000.

SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED WITH
Messrs. SCHUCHARDT & GEBHARD, Bankers,
No. 21 Nassau-st., New-York.

The Chicago and Great Eastern Railway Company now offer for sale one million one hundred thousand dollars of their first mortgage bonds, in sums of one thousand dollars each, maturing in thirty years, bearing interest at the rate of Seven per cent. per annum, payable in the City of New-York, on the first days of April and October, in each year.

These bonds are secured by a first and only Mortgage on the property, income and franchises of the Railway Company, executed to Frederick Schuchardt and Henry Morgan, of the City of New-York, Trustees.

The remaining nine hundred thousand dollars of the Bonds are set apart and remain in the hands of the said Trustees, for the purpose of being exchanged for the indebtedness of the Chicago and Cincinnati Railroad Company, running from La Crosse to Logansport; this effected, the $2,000,000 will form a First and only Mortgage on a line of road 110 miles in length, extending from Chicago to Logansport, where it connects with the Cincinnati and Chicago Air-line Railroad, forming the shortest line by 40 miles, between Chicago and Cincinnati, and by 36 miles the shortest line between Louisville and Chicago.

It will also open, in connection with roads now in operation, entirely new and very direct lines from Chicago to New-York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and all Eastern cities. The distance between Chicago and New-York by this route being shorter than by either of the existing lines via Dunkirk or Buffalo.

The road is now under contract, and the most strenuous efforts are being made to have it open for traffic during the Summer of 1864.

The interest on the Bonds maturing during the progress of the work has been provided for, and will remain on deposit with the Bankers of the Company, Messrs SCHUCHARDT & GEBHARD, No. 21 Nassau-st., to whom the Company refer for further particulars, and where subscription books for this loan have been opened.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

OFFICE LIGHTHOUSE BOARD, Feb. 15, 1864.

Sealed Proposals will be received at this office until 1 o'clock P. M. on Saturday, the 19th day of March, 1864, for supplying the Lighthouse Establishment with fifteen thousand gallons of the best quality pure Winter strained lard oil, and thirty thousand gallons of the best quality pure Winter strained sperm oil, to be divided into four lots, and to be delivered at the times under-mentioned, alongside of the Government supply-vessels, or at the warehouse or other place of deposit, to be designated by the Inspecting Officer or other authorized agent of the Lighthouse Board, in strong, tight, well-made casks, suitable for shipping, in good order, of an average capacity each of from eighty to one hundred gallons.

The lard oil will be delivered at Boston, Mass., for special inspection.

Any one of the lots of sperm oil, or all of them, may be delivered at New-York, New-London, Sag Harbor, Boston, New-Bedford, Edgartown, or Nantucket, at the option of the bidders. The place of delivery must be distinctly stated in the bids, and will be embraced in the contracts.

The four lots will be delivered as follows, viz.:

LOT No. 1.—Ten thousand (10,000) gallons sperm oil on the 15th day of April, 1864, or as soon thereafter as the proper tests and gauging can be completed.

LOT No. 2.—Fifteen thousand (15,000) gallons lard oil on the 1st day of May, 1864, or as soon thereafter as the proper tests and gauging can be completed.

LOT No. 3.—Ten thousand (10,000) gallons sperm oil on the 1st day of June, 1864, or as soon thereafter as the proper tests and gauging can be completed.

LOT No. 4.—Ten thousand (10,000) gallons sperm oil on the 1st day of August, 1864, or as soon thereafter as the proper tests and gauging can be completed.

No part of the oil proposed for and to be embraced in the contracts under this advertisement will be accepted, received, or paid for, until it shall have been proved to the entire satisfaction of the person or persons charged with its examination, test, and inspection, to be of the best quality pure Winter strained or bagged oil, and free from mixture with other or inferior oils and adulterations.

The usual means for determining the character and quality of the oil will be employed, viz.: specific gravity, burning the amount of residuum, and any other proper tests to arrive at correct conclusions that may be deemed necessary.

The casks must be gauged, under the direction and personal supervision of the inspecting officer, by a Custom-house or other legally authorized and sworn gauger, according to the United States standard, and must be marked and accepted before they are removed from the cellar or warehouse of the contractor. The temperature of the oil will be accurately noted, and the measurements reduced to the standard temperature of 60° Fahrenheit by tables prepared for the purpose.

Proposals will be received and considered for each lot separately, or for all of the lots, at the option of the bidder; but no bid will be considered for a less quantity than that specified as one lot, to be delivered at one time and place. Each bid must state explicitly the rate per gallon, in writing, the number of the lot or lots bid for, and the time and place of delivery, conforming to this advertisement.

Bids submitted by different members of the same firm or copartnership will not be considered.

The Lighthouse Board, under the authority of the department, reserves the right to reject any bid, although it may be the lowest, for other considerations than the price.

No bid will be considered for any other kinds or descriptions of oils than those specifically called for in this advertisement.

A bond, with security to the satisfaction of the department, in a penalty equal to one-fourth of the amount of each contract made under these proposals, will be required of each contractor, conditioned for the faithful performance of the contract, to be executed within ten days after the acceptance of the bid.

Every offer must be accompanied by a written guarantee, signed by one or more responsible persons, and known to the department as such, or certified by a United States District Judge, Attorney, Navy Agent, or Collector of the Customs, to the effect that, if the bid or bids be accepted, the bidder or bidders will duly execute a contract in good faith, according to the provisions and terms of this advertisement, within ten days after acceptance; and that, in case the said party or parties offering shall fail to enter into the contract as aforesaid, he or they guaranty to make good the difference between the offer of the said party or parties and the next lowest bidder. All bids must be sealed and indorsed "Proposals for oil for lighthouses," and then placed in another envelope, and directed, prepaid, to the Secretary of the Lighthouse Board, Washington City.

All bids will be opened publicly, at the hour and on the day specified.

Payments will be made for the several lots of oil within thirty days after they shall have been received by the United States.

By order of the Lighthouse Board.

W. B. SHUBRICK, Chairman.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by DR. WARD & CO., No. 50 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. DR. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris, and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and at less expense than any other can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health call: it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks, permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 60 Lispenard-st. Call, send, or write.

SPEEDY RELIEF AND SURE CURE GUARANTEED.—Therefore, let no false delicacy prevent your immediate application to Dr. POWERS. Dr. POWERS, successfully consulted with Dr. WARD No. 50 Lispenard-st. Conducted on the plan of the Hospital des Veneriens, Paris, where those afflicted with any form of private disease can receive prompt treatment, without risk or exposure, viz.: Syphilis, gonorrhœa, gleet, strictures, ulcers, tumors, cancers, secondary and constitutional syphilis, diseases of the kidneys, &c., &c. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of those complaints, enable us to effect cures in cases where others of less experience have failed. Dr. Powers' Essence of Life restores the vigor of youth in four weeks. This marvelous agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, speedily cured. The men to consult, Drs. Ward and Powers, the champions and kings of venereal diseases, possessing the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedies in the world. Those who have used their preventives are never without. Send or a circular. To Ladies.—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. The above remedies sent by mail. The afflicted should read their circular. Postage free, on receipt of a stamp. Cures warranted.

CAUTION TO LADIES, SINGLE AND MARRIED.—Every woman truly a lady, has an aversion to call in or upon a physician, in respect to complaints peculiar to her sex. Besides the shock to her delicacy in consulting persons, most of whom know nothing of her ailments, she incurs worse than useless expense in buying injurious pills, drops, potions, &c. No lady need call upon the numerous doctors with whom to uselessly spend her means, as "The Married Womans' Private Medical Companion," price $1, by A. M. Mauriceau, Professor of Diseases of Women, designed especially for the married or those about to be married, points out the mode of treatment to remove obstructions, irregularities, or her other ailments, as mother or wife, with the causes and symptoms, and what best to do. Sold at his office, No. 129 Liberty-st, New-York; or can be sent by mail, free of postage, to any part of the United States and Canada, by inclosing $1, and addressing Box No. 1,224 New-York City. For sale at No. 1 Vesey-st., (Astor House,) and 18 Ann-st.; FEDERREN & CO., 13 Court-st., Boston.

EUROPEAN NEWS.

Italians would at last convert even the Empress to the necessity of evacuating Rome; for her Majesty has a mortal fear of these attempts, and the instinct of self-preservation may reasonably be expected to wear out in the end her fanaticism for papal rights.

Two American pickpockets have just been arrested in the streets of Paris, exercising their profession on the pockets of the crowds waiting at the omnibus stations. The police reports of the law journals give but the following indication of their identity; JAMES F., aged 25, of Cincinnati, and WILLIAM R., aged 45, of New-York.

The anniversary of WASHINGTON'S birthday was handsomely celebrated this year at the American Legation. About four hundred persons, embracing most of the loyal Americans in Paris, a considerable number of the diplomatic corps, and other notabilities of the official world were present, besides a few secession sympathizers and aiders and abettors, among whom I noticed Messrs. GAILLARDET, Capt. PEARCE, of the Royal Navy, whose name was lately mentioned in the intercepted rebel correspondence, and Mr. ROEBUCK, a son of the English Member of Parliament. The German and the South American Legations were fully represented on this occasion, and in a certain corner the affairs of Germany seemed to be receiving a thorough ventilation in a squad of diplomats of which the Prussian Ambassador was the centre. Curious to relate, the Turkish and Persian Legations have taken the American Legation in particular affection, and were completely represented at this ball, dressed in a modification of last year's costume, which is quite an improvement. Last year the Persian official costume consisted of a pair of white cotton pantaloons, which didn't look much like pantaloons, a bed-quilt and a black night-cap. But even Orientals knock under to Paris civilization, and this year all that is left of the Persian is the Astracan cap. So, too, of the Turk. But for the fez cap and the Turkish nose, he, too, has been metamorphosed in a Parisian. Several of the patriotic young American ladies present, (and as handsome as they were patriotic,) wore the national colors as a part of their toilette. Of these the most successful were worn by Miss SIMONTON, Miss ENDICOTT and Miss VIAL. The latter carried an American and a French flag in her hair. Several young American ladies were in mourning for the Duchess of Parma, a sort of political demonstration now quite the vogue in the legitimate circles of the Faubourg St. Germain. These were worn by the young Countess DE GANAY, formerly of Philadelphia, and the Baroness DE COURVAL, also of Philadelphia. Mrs. LILLIE MOULTON, the skating companion of the Empress this winter, also ventured to mar her otherwise brilliant toilette, by two little black bows, offered as a propitiation to her friends in the aristocratic Faubourg. Mr. DAYTON was confined to his bed, to the regret of every one, by a slight indisposition, and the honors of the celebration were performed in a way to please all, by Mrs. DAYTON, Miss DAYTON, and Mr. DAYTON, junior.

GREAT BRITAIN.

THE REBEL RAMS AND PIRATES.

In the House of Lords on the 25th, the Earl of Derby said that Lord RUSSELL had declined to produce the papers he had asked for, in reference to the steam rams, the Saxon and the Alabama, on the ground that their production would prejudice pending legal proceedings; but it appeared from a statement made by Government in the House of Commons, that there never had been any objection to produce the papers relating to the Saxon. He wished to ask whether there was any longer any objection to produce these papers.

Earl RUSSELL said he had asked the advice of the law officers of the Crown in refusing to produce the papers, but the Attorney-General had since reconsidered the question, and had now no objection to give the papers.

Lord CHELMSFORD asked when it was that the Attorney-General changed his mind.

Earl RUSSELL said the communication he had received from the Attorney-General was a privileged communication, and he should decline to say when it was made.

In the House of Commons, on the same evening, Lord PALMERSTON, in reply to Mr. PEACOCK, said that the Tuscaloosa, (formerly the Conrad,) had been seized at the Cape of Good Hope, in consequence of instructions from home; but subsequent instructions had been sent to release her, on the ground that her detention would not be warranted by international law.

In the House of Commons, on the 26th, Lord PALMERSTON assented to the production of the papers relative to the seizure of the Tuscaloosa.

THE SLAVE-TRADE.

Mr. CAVE asked whether Her Majesty's Government intended to carry into execution the provisions of the treaty of the United States for the suppression of the Slave-trade by stationing cruisers off the coast of Cuba.

Lord PALMERSTON assured the House that no one felt more desirous of seeing the infamous traffic in slaves put down than the Foreign Secretary and himself, and that no effort of theirs should be spared to accomplish that object. Already the Slave-trade with Brazil had ceased, and a vast diminution had taken place in the number imported into Cuba. This result he attributed mainly to the operation of the treaty with the United States. He regretted to say, however, that the Government of France, which was amongst the first to declare the inhumanity and illegality of the traffic, had not thought fit to follow the example of the United States, and had lent but lukewarm support in the work. With regard to the employment of cruisers in Cuba waters, he thought the more prudent and humane course was to send them to the coast of Africa rather than to allow the slaves to go through the horrors of the middle passage before they had a chance of capture and falling into other hands.

THE DANISH QUESTION.

Sundry inquiries were made of Ministers as to the Danish question, and in response to one of them Lord PALMERSTON said:

"I have stated to the House on a former occasion that the great object of Her Majesty's Government had been to bring about a speedy settlement of the differences between Germany and Denmark. For this purpose we proposed an armistice as the foundation of a conference, but we found both parties attached such conditions as to make it impossible for the other party to agree to them. Disappointed in this expectation, we had made a proposal for a conference without an armistice, thinking that if we can get a certain number of persons round a table, they are more likely to arrive at a settlement than by dispatches written from a distance. Austria and Prussia have agreed to that proposal; I believe that France will be willing to join the conference, and I fancy that Russia will not be indisposed to do so. With respect to Sweden, I am not quite sure; and we have as yet no answer from Denmark."

Lord PALMERSTON further explained that the invasion of Jutland took place in defiance of instructions from Berlin, but that, nevertheless, the Prussians would continue to hold Kolding, owing to its strategical importance.

In regard to the proposed Danish Conference, Lord PALMERSTON stated that the only basis on which it would take place would be the treaty of 1852. The Danish Government, owing to local considerations, desired to postpone their answer to the invitation for a short period. Voluminous correspondence on the Dano-German question had been issued, but it is only brought down to September last as yet.

A steam-ram of great size and power had been launched on the Clyde for the Danish Government.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The London Morning Advertiser asserts that not only has the English Channel Squadron been recalled from Lisbon, but that the Admiral is under orders to proceed forthwith to the Baltic, in order to be prepared not only for possible but probable eventualities. The Advertiser further states that the Government are resolved rather than that Denmark proper shall suffer the loss of any of its territory to employ the logic of England's naval force to any extent which circumstances may render necessary.

THE WAR IN DENMARK.

A Vienna telegram says: "The political bases of the Conference proposed by England, are as follows:

1. The European Powers guarantee the authority as well as the indivisibility of the Duchies.
2. The territorial arrangements hitherto existing are to undergo no change.

Austria and Prussia have adhered in principle to the proposal, provided, however, that the German Diet and France also assent, and that the negotiations should not interfere with the prosecution of hostilities."

The Paris Nord announces that the proposition made by England for a conference has been officially accepted by France. The integrity of the Danish Monarchy is the basis upon which the conference will meet. Hostilities, will, nevertheless, be continued. The Nord fears that the conference offers few chances of bringing about a pacific solution of the conflict.

The adhesion of France to the conference is confirmed from other sources; but, the general impression is that the French Government is not very earnest in the matter.

There is no news from the seat of war.

An important deputation from all parts of Schleswig had presented an address to Duke FREDERICK, of Augustenburg, at Kiel. In reply the Duke declared his intention never to surrender his rights.

The Paris Constitutionnel, relative to the proposed conference, says France would gladly hope for success; but it is doubtful if Denmark and the German Confederation will accede.

The London Times, of the 27th, says: "It is fair to hope that in a short time representatives of all the Great Powers will meet in London, and, together with those of Denmark and Sweden, will deliberate on such a supplement to the treaty of 1852 as will satisfy the reasonable demands of Germany, take away whatever real grievances can be adduced by the inhabitants of the Duchies, and maintain the Danish monarchy in its former integrity. As to the minor States, we cannot suppose that in their present temper they will consent to be present at the London Conference, and as they can, no doubt, still obtain a majority in the Diet, the assent of the Confederation can hardly be counted upon.

The London Daily News denounces the idea of a conference while unjust invasion and butchery in Schleswig is allowed to go on, and draws the conclusion that the conference will either draw England further along the downward road, and lend her sanction to the misdeeds of Austria and Prussia, or will bring her to a crisis in which she must once more, choose between humiliation and war.

The Morning Post treats the matter in a similar spirit; it attacks the Times for writing up the scheme and asserts that the Austro-Prussian acceptance is only meant to neutralize England's possible action in consequence of the invasion of Jutland.

The Post remarks that the consent of several Powers to the Conference is yet wanting, and notably that of Denmark.

The Secretaries of the Danish Legation at Copenhagen had left that city.

The Swedish Ambassador at Copenhagen had been recalled at his own request.

The Danes have postponed their reply to the invitation. They probably think the successful defence of their new positions may give them a higher standing in any deliberations than if they joined the conference, with their late retreat still fresh in the minds of their neighbors. The main point, however, has been gained on the assent of the Great Powers, with whom the decision really rests."

FRANCE.

The trial of the four Italian conspirators was concluded on the 26th ult. GRECCO and TRABUCCO were condemned to transportation for life, and IMPERATORI and SCAGLONI to 20 years' imprisonment. Nothing is said as to MAZZINI, although the official indictment strongly implicated him.

The Archduke MAXIMILIAN was expected to arrive at the Tuileries on the 26th, but he had delayed his departure from Brussels till the 29th ult.

The Paris Bourse was steady. Rentes on the 26th closed at 66.55.

POLAND.

Orders have been issued at Warsaw that after the 22d of March all persons of either sex, above the age of 14, must, on leaving their houses, be provided with a passport, on pain of punishment.

CAPE OF GOOD HOPE.

The Cape mails to the 20th of January had been received. The news is unimportant. Business was improving.

MOROCCO.

It is estimated that 900 persons were killed by the recent explosion of a powder magazine in Morocco.

The Moors are stated to have recently massacred the crews of two Spanish boats near Alhucesnas.

INDIA AND CHINA.

The mails from Calcutta to Jan. 22, and Hong Kong, Jan. 15, are received, but the news has been anticipated by telegraph. Freights at Shanghai were exorbitantly high. The rate for Cotton to England had risen, in a month from £3 17s. 6d. to £5 7s. 6d., owing to the scarcity of shipping and partly to the preference for British vessels in consequence of the presence of the Alabama in Eastern waters. Some transports of registers had been effected. Americans showed a preference for Continental vessels over British.

Commercial.

LONDON MONEY MARKET.

The Bank of England, on the 25th, reduced the rate of discount from 7 to 6 per cent., but the movement had no material effect on the funds or on the demand for money at the Bank, which continued on a moderate scale. On the following day, however, a more active demand sprung up, and the market was rather tighter.

The funds on the 26th were dull under the more unfavorable aspect of the proposed conference, but there was more steadiness at the close. Consols 91⅛.@91¼.

Also, the bill to provide for the voluntary enlistment of any persons residents of certain States into the regiments of other States. Also, a bill from the same committee, as a substitute for Mr. CARLILE'S resolutions, declaring—

That the objects of the war is the subjugation of the rebels in arms to the rightful authority of the United States, and the reëstablishment of such authority: that in the prosecution of the war the United States may adopt whatever measures, not inconsistent with the rules of civilized warfare, which may be deemed necessary to secure the public safety, now and hereafter; that any person born and residing in the United States, whether bond or free, owes allegiance to the United States, and this allegiance is paramount to any duty which such person may owe to any State or individual: that the Constitution of the United States does not recognize slaves as property, but as persons owing service or labor in certain States under the laws thereof and it is the right and duty of the United States to offer such persons such inducements as are best calculated to enable them to give to their country the paramount allegiance which they owe, and that the Proclamation of Emancipation issued by the President of the United States on the first day of January, 1863, was a measure necessary for the common defence sanctioned by the spirit of the Constitution and by the law and practice of nations, and said proclamation is hereby declared to have the force and effect of law, anything in the laws or Constitution of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.

NEVADA BRANCH MINT.

Mr. CONNESS, of California, (Union,) introduced a bill to enable the Secretary of the Treasury to obtain a title to the lands in Nevada for the purpose of establishing a branch mint there. Referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

THE FUGITIVE SLAVE BILL.

The consideration of the bill repealing all acts for the rendition of fugitive slaves, was, on motion of Mr. SUMNER, at the suggestion of Mr. HENDRICKS, postponed until Wednesday next.

THE DEFICIENCY BILL.

A message was received from the House announcing their non-concurrence in certain amendments of the Senate to the bill to supply deficiencies, and that they had appointed a Committee of Conference on the subject to meet a similar one on the part of the Senate.

On motion of Mr. FESSENDEN, of Maine, (Union,) the Senate insisted upon its amendments, and the Chair was authorized to appoint a committee to meet that of the House.

THE M'DOWELL MILITARY COMMISSION.

The joint resolution of Mr. POWELL, as amended by Mr. GRIMES, came up as the unfinished business of yesterday, the pending question being the amendment of Mr. LANE, of Kansas, leaving it optional with the President to decide whether the transmission of the papers called for was compatible with the public interests.

The amendment was adopted, and the resolution, as amended, was, after debate, rejected by a vote of 25 to 11.

YEAS—Messrs. Buckalew, Carlile, Davis, Hendricks, Johnson, Lane of Indiana, Lane of Kansas, Nesmith, Powell, Riddle, Wright.

NAYS—Messrs. Anthony, Brown, Chandler, Conness, Dixon, Doolittle, Fessenden, Foot, Foster, Grimes, Harding, Harlan, Harris, Howard, Howe, Morgan, Pomeroy, Ramsey, Sherman, Sumner, Ten Eyck, Wade, Wilkinson, Willey, Wilson.

INTERFERENCE WITH MINISTERS OF RELIGION.

Mr. POWELL, of Kentucky, (Dem.,) gave notice of his intention at a subsequent day to introduce a bill preventing the Secretary of War from interfering with ministers of religion.

THE PAY OF COLORED TROOPS.

The bill equalizing the pay of colored troops came up in order, and Mr. DAVIS addressed the Senate at length in support of his amendment allowing the District Courts to appoint commissioners to ascertain and award to loyal owners a just valuation for their slaves. He commented severely on the policy of the Government in paying, as full compensation to the loyal master for his slave taken into the service, the arbitrary sum of three hundred dollars prescribed in the bill, when, even now, in Kentucky, if the people were relieved from the aggressive and unjust policy of the Government, the average value of the negroes would be twelve hundred dollars.

A TAX ON DOGS.

Mr. SHERMAN, of Ohio, (Union,) submitted a memorial from the officers and members of the Ohio Wool-growing Association, representing that from reliable data and in the belief of the Association, five hundred thousand dogs infest the State of Ohio. The memorial adds that a partial record of the damages done to the sheep and husbandry of Ohio amounts to one hundred thousand dollars per annum. The memorialists pray for a revenue tax of one dollar upon each dog.

CONCLUSION OF MR. DAVIS.

Mr. DAVIS concluded his speech at twenty minutes past 4 o'clock, when the Senate went into Executive session, and, upon the opening of the doors, again adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, March 9.

A PORT OF ENTRY.

The House passed the Senate bill constituting Parkersburgh, West Virginia, a port of delivery.

TAXING GOVERNMENT BONDS.

Mr. KERNAN, of N. Y. (Dem.) offered a preamble setting forth that whereas, the law exempts United States bonds from taxation, thus enabling corporations and individuals to withdraw a large amount of personal estate from taxation, and escaping their just share of burdens which are thrown chiefly on real estate, therefore, it is

Resolved, That the Committee on Ways and Means be instructed to inquire into the expediency of so changing the law as not to exempt such bonds from State and municipal taxation.

The resolution was adopted.

REIMBURSEMENT OF SOLDIERS FOR LOSSES.

Mr. FARNSWORTH, of Illinois, (Union,) from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported back sundry memorials and resolutions to reimburse soldiers for clothing lost and destroyed while on the march or in battle, and asked to be discharged from their consideration, on the ground that the law of July, 1862, authorizes the Secretary of War to furnish clothing to sick, wounded and other soldiers who have lost the same by the casualties of war, and therefore no further legislation is necessary.

THANKS TO GENS. ROSECRANS AND THOMAS.

Mr. GARFIELD, of Ohio, (Union,) from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported back with amendment the Senate's joint resolution of thanks to Major-Gen. L. THOMAS and the officers and men under him for bravery and courage at Chickamauga, and requesting the President to communicate this resolution in suitable terms to that General. The amendment provides for thanks jointly to Gens. ROSECRANS and THOMAS, and in that form was passed.

VETERAN ENGINEERS.

Mr. GARFIELD, of Ohio, (Union,) reported a bill authorizing the formation of a regiment of veteran volunteer engineers in the Army of the Cumberland, to serve three years or during the war; the men to be credited to the States or subdivision of States from which they are enlisted. The bill was passed.

PROTECTION TO EMIGRATION.

Mr. BLAIR, of Missouri, (Union,) from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a bill for the protection of emigrants to the Territories, which was passed.

The bill provides that arms, accoutrements and munitions may be distributed to emigrants passing through hostile Indian country, to be issued under such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe, and that all persons availing themselves of this provision shall be organized into companies.

BUREAU OF MILITARY JUSTICE.

Mr. SCHENCK, of Ohio, (Union,) from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a bill to establish a Bureau of Military Justice, to be connected with the War Department.

The bill provides that a Judge-Advocate-General, with the rank of Brigadier-General, and two Assistants, with the rank of Colonel, shall compose such bureau.

The bill was passed.

THE DISMISSAL OF OFFICERS.

Mr. GARFIELD, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a bill, which was passed, regulating the dismissal of officers from the military and naval service.

MILITARY AND POSTAL ROUTES.

Mr. DEMING, of Connecticut, (Union,) from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a bill to declare certain railroad routes military and post roads.

The bill makes the Camden and Atlantic Railroad, with the branches built and to be built, and the Raritan and Delaware Bay Railroad, public highways of the United States. It also recognizes these roads, with the ferries between Camden and Philadelphia, and between Port Monmouth and New-York City as a post and military route, for the transportation of mails, troops and munitions of war, and for the transportation of goods and merchandise of foreign production across the State of New-Jersey, under permits granted by the Collectors of the ports of the United States, authorized to grant the same, and for commerce among and between the several States of the United States.

The roads above-mentioned are empowered to complete and operate these roads and their branches for the transport of passengers and merchandise of all descriptions between the cities of New-York and Philadelphia, and between the intermediate places, and for commerce among the several States, anything in any laws of the State of New York or the State of New-Jersey to the contrary notwithstanding.

THE APPROPRIATION BILLS.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union, and took up the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation Bill.

Mr. MCCLURG, of Missouri, (Union,) proceeded to notice the former remarks of his colleagues, (Messrs. KING and BLAIR,) saying they were unprovoked and malicious, and supported only by falsehoods.

The various items of the bill were then considered. They appropriate for salaries and expenses of the several departments heretofore provided for by law. The section relating to the Department of Agriculture gave rise to much discussion, involving the question of economy. Several gentlemen protested against retrenchment commencing with the agricultural interest, saying more money was wasted by the debate than it was proposed to save by amendment.

Mr. STEVENS, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) noticing the remarks of gentlemen, said if agriculture was to be damaged because of increased prices, they had better stop eating and buying turkies, and drinking the whisky which was additionally taxed the other day. Prices were twice as high as formerly, and if for this reason they were going to cripple agriculture, they might as well starve at once.

Without disposing of the subject the committee rose, and the House at 5 o'clock adjourned.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU
CURES SECRET DISEASES
in all their stages, at little Expense; little or no change of Diet; no Inconvenience. AND NO EXPOSURE.
It causes frequent desire and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing obstructions, preventing and curing strictures of the urethra, allaying pain and inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling POISONOUS, DISEASED AND WORN-OUT MATTER.
Thousands upon thousands who have been the
and who have paid HEAVY FEES to be cured in a short time, have found they were deceived, and that the "Poison" has, by the use of "Powerful Astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in an aggravated form, and,
PERHAPS, AFTER MARRIAGE.

FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA.
SYPHILIS.
This is an affection of the blood, and attacks the sexual organs, linings of the nose, ears, throat, windpipe and other mucus surfaces, making its appearance in the form of ulcers. Helmbold's Extract Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and removes all scaly eruptions of the skin, giving to the complexion a clear and healthy color. It being prepared expressly for this class of complaints, its blood-purifying properties are preserved to a greater extent than any other preparation of sarsaparilla.
